New Alignment Coming Union Delegates Told

Important Changes in Government Finance Due This Year and Aid For Municipalities Will Result, Says Premier

UNION HEADS MEET CABINET

Accord With Many Proposals Expressed By Government; Expenses For Highway and Public Utilities Commissions Not Warranted Now

A realignment of government and municipal finance is in the making, but until that occurs the province will be unable to take immediate steps to relieve municipalities of relief and social service burdens, Premier Pattullo informed the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, which interviewed the cabinet this morning.

These changes, which hinge largely upon the provincial-federal relationship, are anticipated this year, and on that basis the municipalities may expect something next year, it was indicated.

The government, the delegates said, expressed accord with many of their proposals, such as a highway commission and public utilities commission. However, these would mean the setting up of expensive boards, which were not warranted at the present time.

With regard to municipal proposals that the income tax be increased to relieve land taxation, the Premier pointed out that the possibility of increasing the provincial income tax was over-estimated.

The whole interview was conducted along amiable lines, the government representatives pointing out that municipal problems but pointing out that it must first straighten out its own troubles.

ITALY GIVING FULL SUPPORT

Canadian Press from Rome, Feb. 5.—Italy adheres without reservation to the conclusions and recommendations in the Anglo-French disarmament and security proposals, it was authoritatively informed today.

The London proposals, it was pointed out in official circles, are a sequel of the Franco-Italian accord asking Germany's participation in mutual disarmament and conformity to the security principles consistently set forth by Premier Mussolini.

Trade Delegation To South Africa Back

B.C. Can Increase Lumber Business With Southern Dominion; Prosperous Condition Following Gold Boom Found

Impressed with prospects of increasing British Columbia's lumber exports to South Africa, P. B. Coverhill, chief secretary for the province, returned today from that Dominion which he visited as a member of the B.C. lumber trade delegation.

Mr. Coverhill acted as honorary secretary to the delegation which was sponsored jointly by the government and the B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association.

"I am convinced our business with South Africa will increase," Mr. Coverhill said. "How much this increase will depend largely upon how strongly we go after the business."

Potentialities of South Africa as a market were great at the present time, he pointed out. Due to expansion of mining, combined with the gold premium, the country was prosperous. Gold production reached a record figure of $400,000,000 last year.

The B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association is a bona fide association.

Having in the country's lumber imports was noted last year. The total reached the record level of approximately $20,000,000 for a year. B.C. shingles are in great demand, and the country is a bona fide association.

The reception was friendly and most successful. They have a

DAWLEY SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Committed on Charge of Entering Dominion Theatre; Second Charge Laid

Charged with having taken part in the entry of the Dominion Theatre during the early morning of January 18, and alleged to have been the man at whom Constable Thomas Stevenson shot inside the theatre, Clifford Dawley was committed for trial by Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing.

The prosecution this morning also took the first step in its endeavor to link Dawley and Owen and Ruth Pettigrew with the series of eight break-ins of city premises during the early morning of January 18. In addition to other charges on which they have been booked, the trio was charged with having broken and entered the Plymouth Candy Shop, Yates Street, next door to the Dominion Theatre.

Preliminary hearings were held on all charges, with P. B. Leighton appearing for Dawley, A. J. Paton for Hugh Pettigrew and D. A. Tait for Owen Pettigrew.

The hearing of the breaking and entering of the theatre charge against Dawley was the only one which was continued for one week when a day will be set for the hearing. The Pettigrew brothers are also charged with unlawful possession of a stolen flashlight and possession of an unregistered revolver.

TELL CROWD'S STORY
The prosecution this morning called ten witnesses. Constable Stevenson was the first witness. On the morning of January 18 in making his regular rounds he had called at the Dominion Theatre where he saw the latter arriving at work. He testified it was between 6:30 and 7 o'clock.

He said he had just got inside the theatre when he heard a sound of breaking glass. He rushed upstairs and heard a movement. The theatre lights were flashed on and he testified he saw the form of a man coming into the theatre between parked cars over a window on the west side.

"Stay where you are or I'll fire," witness said he commanded. The form retreated and he fired, rushing to the window at the same time. He saw three forms on the roof of the Plymouth Theatre, adjoining, he testified, and fired two more shots. He then ran to the street and saw three forms disappearing around the corner of Alameda and Yates Streets. He took after them and fired twice. He saw the last form, Dawley, standing there on the street. He identified Dawley by the clothes he was wearing and by a cap which he said he saw him drop. Constable Stevenson said his parting remark to Dawley as he escaped was, "All right, Dawley, I'll get you."

Germany Urged Now To Agree

British Say If Reich Rejects Air Security Plan It Will Be Isolated

Associated Press
London, Feb. 5.—Great Britain has informed all other interested powers that unless Germany agrees to the Anglo-French proposals for a defense of air security, Germany will be isolated.

A check of all foreign embassies today disclosed the British Foreign Office has communicated with them verbally.

(The agreement is that stands concerning the proposal to other powers in the last few days Paris has been claiming unofficially that an Anglo-French understanding would remain in the event of Germany's refusal to co-operate.)

Great Britain today made it clear, however, to the United States through her embassy here that there are no secret agreements between France and the United Kingdom. All points on which representatives of the two nations reached an accord, it was explained, were clearly stated in Sunday's communiqué. This assurance, it was understood, has also been given to Germany.

U.S.-GERMAN TREATY
The British government has asked the United States through Ray Atherton, counselor of the United States in London, to agree to repeal the military clause of the separate peace treaty signed between the United States and Germany, provided settlement of Europe's problems is reached on the basis of the Anglo-French proposals.

The military clause of the Versailles Treaty was duplicated in the German-United States peace pact.

Aside from this, it was explained, the only active part the United States is expected to take in carrying out the new formula is to join in a disarmament conference.

No official reply had been received up to mid-day from Germany, Belgium or Italy, but some reports were being received from their side.

MEN PICKET SHINGLE MILL

Plant on Fraser River Scene of Demonstration; Employees Kept From Work

Associated Press
Vancouver, Feb. 5.—The shingle mill of Blomfield, Stewart and Welch, on the north arm of the Fraser River, was being picketed today by several hundred men, preventing 100 employees of the mill from going to work.

The demonstration was reported to have been quiet so far, but Chief W. J. Davis of the Burnaby Police and five constables were stationed at the mill in the event of trouble.

The picketing started yesterday, but it was not until today that sufficient numbers were gathered to keep the mill workers from their jobs.

King Urges Steps At Once To Ease Unemployment

Liberal Leader Demands Government Waste No Time, But Have Commons Discuss Measures Immediately

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 5.—Present conditions of unemployment and distress in Canada were called to attention of the House of Commons today by Liberal Leader Mackenzie King, who demanded an immediate discussion of means of meeting these difficulties.

He moved an amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply asking that priority be given to the consideration of the Department of Labor to unemployment conditions and distress and measures to meet them should be immediately discussed.

Mr. King's amendment read: "That this House is of the opinion that when it moves into committee of supply it should first give priority to the consideration of the estimates of the Department of Labor in order that opportunity may be afforded for an immediate discussion and consideration of conditions of unemployment and distress at present existing in all parts of Canada, and of the measures required to cope therewith."

NEW TENDERS FOR SIGNALS

City Council Again Throws Out Traffic System Tenders; Adopts Principle

Like the proverbial star, the automatic traffic signal question twinkled at the meeting of the City Council yesterday evening, and when all debate was finished, the red light shone for a dead stop.

The council decided to call for new tenders for the installation, and named the lights committee, with Alderman McGavin, to set up specifications with the city electrical engineer, after approving the principle of installing lights.

The matter became tangled in a mass of technicalities, one alderman voting on the amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply asking that priority be given to the consideration of the Department of Labor to unemployment conditions and distress and measures to meet them should be immediately discussed.

REORGANIZE CITY STAFFS

Treasury and Assessors Office Readjusted Along Suggested Lines

Reorganization of the city treasury and city assessors departments, long a matter of speculation, was completed yesterday evening with the adoption of the finance committee's report along lines suggested some years ago by the city auditor.

The changes brought about the amalgamation of the posts of city comptroller and city treasurer, under D. A. Macdonald, former comptroller, and the positions of assessor and collector under George A. Gault, formerly assessor.

A. V. Danby was appointed assistant assessor and collector, and J. A. Harrison, assistant treasurer. C. Norman was made assistant city comptroller.

Reading the report, Alderman P. R. Brown, chairman of the finance committee, stated it was virtually a case of re-arranging the deck chairs while the ship was sinking.

Alderman Archie Wills asked if the matter of the man who was in the witness box for more than a full court session, had related his experiences and said he was chained to a bed at a cottage hideout in the Muskoka district of Ontario. Bannister is a hardware merchant in Port Carling, in the Muskoka area.

Bannister's evidence followed that of Martin Harrison, a carpenter, who identified Melner as a man he saw near the cottage last August 13, the day after Mr. Labatt was abducted.

FIVE YEAR LAND SETTLEMENT PLAN

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 5.—Plan for a "Five Year Plan" in Canadian land settlement was made today in a series of sessions before the House of Commons by Joseph A. Bannister, Liberal-Labor member for North Westmorland, Ont.

Mr. Bannister's proposed resolution was that the government "should take into immediate consideration the establishment of a five-year plan for settlement on the land of young farmers in this country."

It was on that date that Dr. John F. (Jafie) Condon testified he paid the ransom to Hauptmann while Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh waited in a prison cell.

Mr. Condon, accused of kidnapping and murdering Colonel Lindbergh's infant son, claimed Fisch gave him the block of ransom money which was found in his garage and Hauptmann's attorneys today openly accused the late Isidor Fisch of being the man who collected the ransom.

B. Heier, Writer Now Employed as Cafe Cashier, Says Man Who Later Died in Germany Was Seen By Him at Bronx Cemetery Night "Jafie" Paid Lindbergh Ransom

Judge Bars Some Defence Evidence

Flemington, N.J., Feb. 5.—Branco Richard Hauptmann's defence to-day produced a witness who testified he saw the late Isidor Fisch jump over a wall at St. Raymond's Cemetery, the Bronx, New York, on the night the $50,000 Riddle Lindbergh ransom was paid there.

The testimony was given by Benjamin Heier, thirty-four, who identified himself as a writer now employed as a restaurant cashier.

He said he was in a parked car with a young lady, who later married another man and who is now dead, and saw Fisch leap to the sidewalk from the cemetery wall on the night of April 2, 1934.

It was on that date that Dr. John F. (Jafie) Condon testified he paid the ransom to Hauptmann while Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh waited in a prison cell.

Tourist Travel Is Discussed Up-island

Nanaimo, Ladysmith and Duncan Hear Outline of Movement Launched in Victoria; Nanaimo Natural Headquarters, Says Eslick

Nanaimo, Feb. 5.—A representative meeting of citizens and businessmen in the Eagle Hall last night heard Harold Hubbard, president of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, Bruce A. McKelvie, John Wood and W. H. Eslick, tell of the aims of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Victoria and Vancouver Island and the need of the co-operation and unification of the whole island to ensure the economic betterment of the province.

Mr. Eslick assured the meeting that Victoria was sincere in the tourist movement and was waiting for Nanaimo to co-operate.

This was to be the first real movement made at unification, he said. The association did not belong to Victoria, but to the whole island, and was a machine to foster co-operation. The speaker pointed out the possibilities and attractions for tourist traffic on Vancouver Island, which would eventually be the means of four counties. Nanaimo, owing to its geographical situation, was the natural headquarters for the association, he said. Mr. Eslick explained to the visitors the year plan and the method of appointing committees. Members of the audience questioned the speakers on the scheme and were of opinion that there were possibilities of a wonderful achievement of advancement along the lines presented by the speakers. The meeting was behind the movement and passed a resolution to that effect.

MASS MEETING
A branch will be formed at a public meeting here.

Mayor Barby welcomed the delegates and asked them to convey his greetings to other mayors and inform them Nanaimo was behind the association. A mass meeting of mayors and reeves will be held in Nanaimo in March.

DUNCAN TO CO-OPERATE
Duncan, Feb. 5.—Mayor Harold Everett presided over the meeting held in the City Hall yesterday at which representatives of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Victoria and Vancouver Island discussed the co-operative possibilities of tourist development.

Harold Hubbard, president of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, introduced himself as a Victorian, but as a Vancouver Islander.

He said that as the main manufacturing industries on the island were pretty well exhausted, the people should realize that the island depended upon developing its natural attractions. The people must become tourist-minded and together with the province of Victoria for Victoria, Duncan for Duncan, but all for "Vancouver Island."

Bruce McKelvie spoke along the same line. He said it must be made into a business plan, urging the community to develop its natural features of interest, and naming among others, the Indian dances and the shipwreck on the coast.

He said that the tourist trade was the price of gasoline. He urged the association to take up the matter of the tax on this commodity. He assured the delegates that he and his council would co-operate with them in every way possible.

GASOLINE COSTS
Reeve G. A. Tisdall of the municipality of North Cowichan, said that a great factor against the tourist trade was the price of gasoline. He urged the association to take up the matter of the tax on this commodity. He assured the delegates that he and his council would co-operate with them in every way possible.

TRIBUTE TO SMUTS
Major J. J. Astor, chairman of The Times Publishing Company of London, told the delegates, expressed regret at the absence through illness of General Jan Smuts, South Africa's distinguished soldier and statesman who is Deputy Prime Minister, and who was to have been the guest of honor at the meeting.

Major Astor referred to General Smuts as an imperial and international figure whose far-reaching influence was a blessing to the world. He referred to some notable speeches General Smuts delivered while in England last autumn.

Germany Urged Now To Agree
O. Henderson, president of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce, said he did not agree that the island was dead industrially. Lumber, mining and agriculture are still doing well, and he wished his hearers would come to Duncan some Saturday night and see for themselves the throngs on the streets, in the stores and restaurants.

The meeting was thrown open for questions or ideas. It was suggested that as only three months of the year carried the tourist trade, the association should visit the transportation companies and get lower rates for automobiles on steamers, so that the people from the mainland could visit the island.

Mr. Eslick stated that this had already been done, and they expected to hear some result in the course of a week or so.

LOYALTY TO ISLAND
A. H. Patterson, secretary of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce, said that loyalty to Vancouver Island was the greatest need and that if 25 per cent of the energy being poured into the scheme was used in making these institutions who most directly benefit by the tourist business become Vancouver Island-minded co-operators, there would be much easier obtained.

It was pointed out that Victoria with a consuming population of 60,000 should be in a position to consume practically all the produce grown on Vancouver Island. Several specific points were mentioned.

The Cowichan district, which produced about one-half of Victoria's required produce from Vancouver, it was also pointed out that one of Victoria's largest retail vendors of ice cream was shipping a large quantity of produce from the south coast.

A committee to co-operate with the development scheme will be appointed.

LADYSMITH, FEB. 5.—The advantages of Ladysmith in the tourist picture were stressed by Mayor W. W. Williams, president of the board of trade, and other speakers in the city hall here yesterday. J. A. Hartley, pioneer businessman and grower of the famous Ladysmith cherries, said he had been a pessimist for two decades, but the tourist movement offered him new hope and impelled him to look to the future with greater confidence.

New Cemetery Evidence at Hauptmann Trial

Philip Meier, who had been quoted as saying his story would "beat the case," testified he picked up three faces shortly after 8 p.m., April 2, 1932, and drove them past the gate of the cemetery where Dr. John P. Condon said he paid Hauptmann the ransom money while Colonel Lindbergh waited in an auto.

FOUR IN A HURDLE
He said he drove the three men two blocks past the gate. They jumped out, he said, and met a fourth, whereupon the quartette hurried for a conference.

They went into a grey car, which Meier said, and he helped them to get it started.

Meier was not allowed to testify to something he said one of the men told him.

Another alibi witness followed the taxi driver, Mrs. Maria Mueller, Mrs. Hauptmann's niece, testified she was at her home for a birthday party on the night of November 28, 1932, when a theatre cashier says he professed a Lindbergh ransom bill in payment for a ticket.

SEVERAL EMISSIONS
This witness' session of the trial started at 10:05 o'clock.

After the jury had been polled, Assistant Attorney-General Joseph Langen asked to present a petition to the court to produce in court today all his press releases from the kidnap date, March 1, 1932, to November 1, 1932, photographs, reports on the kidnap and a mass of other data contained in state police investigation records.

The request "is all too indefinite and uncertain," Col. Schwabkopf said. He said he would produce in court all his press releases from the kidnap date, March 1, 1932, to November 1, 1932, photographs, reports on the kidnap and a mass of other data contained in state police investigation records.

EMPIRE PRESS UNION TOLD SOUTH AFRICA PLANS OWN DEFENCES

From the United Kingdom and all parts of the empire, including Canada, Mr. Pirow stressed it was essential for South Africa not to provide a sound system of national defence, but to rely on the aid of other nations.

He said that the British Commonwealth was a league of nations, and that South Africa should not rely on the aid of other nations, but should provide a sound system of national defence.

BETTER NEWS SELECTION
The meeting of the Imperial Press Union was opened with a speech by the Earl of Clarendon, Governor-General of South Africa, in which he stressed the importance of the selection of news of the British Commonwealth.

The Governor-General said he believed the conference would have far-reaching results in improving the fabric of empire and adding to its stability.

TRIBUTE TO SMUTS
Major J. J. Astor, chairman of The Times Publishing Company of London, told the delegates, expressed regret at the absence through illness of General Jan Smuts, South Africa's distinguished soldier and statesman who is Deputy Prime Minister, and who was to have been the guest of honor at the meeting.

Major Astor referred to General Smuts as an imperial and international figure whose far-reaching influence was a blessing to the world. He referred to some notable speeches General Smuts delivered while in England last autumn.

Germany Urged Now To Agree
O. Henderson, president of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce, said he did not agree that the island was dead industrially. Lumber, mining and agriculture are still doing well, and he wished his hearers would come to Duncan some Saturday night and see for themselves the throngs on the streets, in the stores and restaurants.

The meeting was thrown open for questions or ideas. It was suggested that as only three months of the year carried the tourist trade, the association should visit the transportation companies and get lower rates for automobiles on steamers, so that the people from the mainland could visit the island.

Mr. Eslick stated that this had already been done, and they expected to hear some result in the course of a week or so.

LOYALTY TO ISLAND
A. H. Patterson, secretary of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce, said that loyalty to Vancouver Island was the greatest need and that if 25 per cent of the energy being poured into the scheme was used in making these institutions who most directly benefit by the tourist business become Vancouver Island-minded co-operators, there would be much easier obtained.

It was pointed out that Victoria with a consuming population of 60,000 should be in a position to consume practically all the produce grown on Vancouver Island. Several specific points were mentioned.

The Cowichan district, which produced about one-half of Victoria's required produce from Vancouver, it was also pointed out that one of Victoria's largest retail vendors of ice cream was shipping a large quantity of produce from the south coast.

A committee to co-operate with the development scheme will be appointed.

LADYSMITH, FEB. 5.—The advantages of Ladysmith in the tourist picture were stressed by Mayor W. W. Williams, president of the board of trade, and other speakers in the city hall here yesterday. J. A. Hartley, pioneer businessman and grower of the famous Ladysmith cherries, said he had been a pessimist for two decades, but the tourist movement offered him new hope and impelled him to look to the future with greater confidence.

EVIDENCE FOUND
On returning to make investigations, witness said he found a new Ford V-8 parked behind the B.C. Telephone Company building, with the engine still warm. There were traces of men having stepped from the top of the car up to a fire-escape which led to the roof of the Playhouse Theatre and the candy shop. From here they had reached the Dominion Theatre window, he testified.

Clifford Denham, manager of the Dominion Theatre, testified the upper half of the theatre window was broken and identified a portion of a button given him by George Menzies, doorman and janitor. The latter, he testified, he had turned over to the police.

George Menzies, 519 Market Street, testified he heard the same sound as Constable Stevenson when they entered the theatre building. He was fired by Constable Stevenson and later in the morning had found a broken portion of a button, which he had turned over to Mr. Denham.

Detective Henry F. Jarvis, who took part in the investigation, testified he had found a button in the morning, which he had turned over to Mr. Denham.

On January 20, with Detective F. Woodburn, witness testified he went to another house. After making inquiries they went upstairs and knocked on the door of one of the upper rooms. They received no answer, whereupon they entered the room by the landlady, secured the key from the landlady, and entered the room.

As they entered the room, witness testified he saw a button on the floor, but only noticed it about three inches. Detective Jarvis called out "Come on out, Dawley," but received no answer. The detectives then beat down the door and entered the room, and the accused was arrested.

To Mr. Leighton witness stated they had not notified the accused they were there.

In searching the accused police found a wound in his right thigh. Detective Jarvis continued in direct examination. Dawley had been released to St. St. George's hospital, where he had received a piece of lead from the wound at the hospital.

Summary of evidence said he visited the doctor at the hospital and received a pair of pants which had holes in the right thigh and were blood-stained. He also testified he gathered the glass from the broken theatre window on January 20, and had found a piece of broken button under the window on January 21.

When Dawley was arrested, witness testified, he was wearing a grey coat, from which one button was missing.

Detective Pearson Woodburn's evidence was largely corroborative of that given by Detective Jarvis. In addition he testified he had taken the crown's exhibits to Vancouver and personally handed them over to Inspector Vance for examination.

FIVE ICEBOAT MEN DROWNED

Pretender to Hungarian
Throne Narrowly Escapes
Death in Lake

Associated Press
Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 5.—Archduke Albrecht, pretender to the Hungarian throne, narrowly escaped drowning yesterday when an ice boat plunged through thin ice on Lake Balaton, near here.

Five other ice yachtsmen were drowned.

Unusually mild weather weakened the ice covering on the lake until it was unable to bear the weight of the craft.

Stimmed across the thawing ice surface at sixty miles an hour, Albrecht and his companion, caught between enormous floes in the ice, found themselves being propelled toward a pile of rocks and what appeared to be certain death.

Their fate was momentarily concealed from horrified onlookers when a heavy mist suddenly enveloped the lake.

Rescue parties immediately set forth in search of the ice boats, convinced all must have perished.

With rare good fortune, it was learned later, the ice boat in which the archduke was sailing had been maneuvered out of the ice floes.

Another craft navigated by his fellow sportsmen, careened into open water, meanwhile, carrying its crew of five to their deaths.

Archduke Albrecht, Hapsburg claimant of the Hungarian throne, is widely known and admired among his fellow countrymen as a sportsman.

The archduke has a potential rival in his ambitions for the crown in his royal cousin, Archduke Otto. The two were recently reported, however, to have decided to segregate their aspirations, Otto devoting his attention to Austria, while Albrecht concentrated on Hungary.

CHICAGO SLAYING IS INVESTIGATED

Associated Press
Chicago, Feb. 5.—A mass of possible motives—fear, revenge or lust for power—twisted the investigation of the gangland style slaying of Thomas E. Maloy into a snarl today.

Maloy was killed by blasts from a shotgun and a heavy revolver as he drove along in heavy traffic on Chicago's Outer Drive yesterday.

The police sifted for motives and pressed their investigation that remnants of the depleted Capone syndicate were "muzzling in" on what they believed to be a lucrative enterprise.

SENTENCE FOR CONTEMPT UPHELD

Associated Press
Washington, Feb. 5.—Marking another significant milestone in the development of jurisprudence in the United States, the Supreme Court held yesterday that Congress as well as the courts has power to punish for contempt.

The decision affirmed a ten-day jail sentence imposed by the courts on William P. MacCracken Jr., former assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, for failure to produce data requested by its armed investigation committee.

In a unanimous opinion, with Justice McReynolds not participating—the court said the power to punish obtained "where the offending act was of a nature to obstruct the legislative process."

The decision was termed a "healthy thing" by Senator Wagner of New York.

Education Is Speakers' Theme

Premier Bennett and Others
Join in Education Week
Event

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—Canada's school system, from primary grades to university, was described by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett to-night as "the greatest contributing factor to Canada's national culture."

Provincial authorities were responsible for the curriculum which was placed in the hands of the teacher, Mr. Bennett said, "and this suggests the danger that the vision of the teacher may be limited by provincial boundaries. That, however, is not Canada's experience."

Mr. Bennett spoke on a programme arranged by the Canadian Teachers' Federation as a feature of Dominion-wide observance of Education Week.

Others on the programme were Dr. H. W. Terry, president of the National Research Council; James A. Woods, president of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation; and Miss Jessie Norris, vice-president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation. Mr. H. W. L. MacKenzie King, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, had been invited to speak, but was unable to accept.

INTERNATIONALISM

The Prime Minister urged attention be given not only the national training of youth, but that international thinking be ingrained in the student, as well as an understanding of Christian principles. The educated mind does not live entirely in the world, he said. "It lives in a world of all times and all places. There is a world without limit from which it draws its daily inspiration."

BEST MINDS NEEDED

Dr. Terry emphasized "the necessity for seeing that opportunity is given for the best minds among the rising generation to receive the education for which they are fitted and their services to be afterwards utilized in the interest of the nation. The possibility of making permanent our democratic institutions," he said, "depends on our being able to train up the best minds from the mass of the population, those capable of advancement and who, by the very fact that they have experienced a wide range of life's difficulties, will have the necessary understanding for reasonable leadership."

"Education—For what?" was the theme of Mr. Woods' talk. Despite all the advanced education and dexterity of human beings in utilizing modern invention and scientific knowledge in their service, he said, there was poverty and insecurity in a world of plenty.

EDUCATION AND ALTRUISM

In the last year for which statistics were available, said Miss Norris, for every dollar spent on elementary and high school education Canadians spent 65 on the purchase and maintenance of automobiles. She urged greater expenditures on education and greater interest in "the biggest business in Canada."

JAPAN EXPANDS RAYON OUTPUT

May Take First Place in 1935, Surpassing United States

By FERRY WHEATING
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
Tokyo, Feb. 5.—Japan's production of rayon yarn last year totaled 150,000,000 pounds, on the basis of figures just made public by the Japan Rayon Federation.

The output of the companies who are members of the federation came to 127,000,000 pounds and it is estimated the quantity produced by non-member mills brought the total to 150,000,000 pounds.

Japan thus retains her position as the world's second greatest producer of rayon, the leading position being still held by the United States, and followed by Italy, Britain, Germany and France.

It is thought here, however, that there is some chance that by the end of the present year Japan will have outstripped the United States and attained first rank, as the Japanese output during 1935 is calculated at 210,000,000 pounds or more, and provided there is not a big increase on the part of the United States.

POSITION OF CITY IS TOLD

Mayor Leeming Addresses
Ministerial Association
Gathering

The seriousness of the taxation and unemployment situation of Victoria, was stressed by Mayor Leeming in an address at the Ministerial Association meeting in the Y.W.C.A. yesterday. Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry presided.

There was a civic increase in population, the mayor said, but the relief was only slightly less than in 1933. During December last year, relief cost the city $80,000, he said.

The mayor drew attention to the fact that monthly statements were showing deficits while property was constantly reverting to the city. He pointed out that the city's revenue was being reduced by the city's own actions.

During a brief business session the minutes discussing dealing with changes in the present system of motion picture censorship and decided to invite Rev. R. M. Red, of the mainland city, to speak on the subject here.

The John Howard Society will hold its organization meeting on February 13 and the Ministerial Fellowship will meet on February 18, it was announced.

QUESTION USE OF SIDEWALKS

Question was raised at the City Council meeting yesterday evening over the rights of service stations to monopolize long stretches of streets for entrances to their pumps, thereby prevent the parking of cars at the curb in those places.

The matter came up for discussion after Andrew Leslie Willis had asked the council what could be done about the restoration of the curbing and sidewalk at the south-west corner of the intersection of Blenheim Street formerly occupied by the Union Oil station.

He believed the sidewalk should be returned to the city and be responsible for its restoration.

The matter led to a general discussion on service station approaches, some of the sidewalk approaches they should be regulated to permit parking.

The matter was finally referred to the public works executive. With it went a request for an approach to a service station on Johnson Street. In the latter case the executive was given power to act.

Death Sentence At One-day Trial

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 5.—Japan Oymer, negro ghoul, yesterday evening was convicted of the murder and mutilation of Mrs. Anniston Turner, and sentenced to death by hanging.

Judge W. W. Alden set March 5 for the execution, after the jury's verdict.

The giant negro's trial lasted only one day.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Ottawa Bureau figures disclose the population of the United States has jumped up nearly 20,000,000 since 1930. The latest census estimate places the population at 141,574,000 people, with the 1930 census at 122,715,000.

IMMIGRATION BENG STUDIED

British Report on Possible
Plans Considered By Ottawa Government

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—The Canadian government is giving consideration to the question of resuming immigration from the United Kingdom. This was made clear in a return tabled in the Commons yesterday afternoon in reply to a question asked by Hon. E. M. Stevens, Conservative, Kootenay East.

Some months ago an inter-departmental committee in Britain, known as the Whitehall committee, made a report suggesting methods to make possible resumption of overseas immigration. It was in regard to this report Mr. Stevens asked.

The government replied in the House yesterday that it had received copies of this report from the Dominion Secretary with a view to making for any observations the Canadian government might wish to make in regard to it.

DROUGHT FACTOR

The report was referred to the department interested, the reply proceeded, "for consideration from the Canadian point of view. The general position of the Canadian government on the subject of migration has been set forth in personal discussions in London. A draft of official reply to the dispatch has been prepared but had not yet been sent, pending further consideration of the bearing of conditions in the drought area and of when unemployment on the possibilities of land settlement and increased migration generally."

REPORT CRITICIZED

The inter-departmental report has been strongly criticized by Gen. M. L. Murphy, who has given much effort to arouse support for the transfer of families from Britain to farms in Canada.

"The report is clearly out of touch with Canada's needs and requirements," he declared in a circular he has sent to the members of Parliament. "It advocates cheap assisted passages for emigrants, but contains no recognition of Canada's standpoint—that the crux of the problem of the transference of people from England to Canada is how to satisfactorily settle the migrants after they arrive in Canada and that the cost of this should be borne by England."

"While this report cannot be said to make any immediate contribution to the solution of the problem of the distribution of the population of the Empire, it has some importance in that it has served as a stepping stone to obtaining the views of the Dominions on the subject."

R. HOME SMITH, TORONTO, DIES

Widely Known For His Success in Real Estate Field

Toronto, Feb. 5.—R. Home Smith, wealthy realtor and financier here, and one of the pioneers of the city's waterfront development, died yesterday evening at his home on South Drive, in Etobicoke Township, on the western outskirts of Toronto.

Mr. Smith had been ill for eight weeks, and his death was due to heart trouble. He was fifty-eight years old.

One brother, Bruce L. Smith, manager of the Royal Trust Company, survives him.

In Toronto Mr. Smith was best known, probably, for his real estate promotions. The western suburbs of the city, which had been little more than rolling farms, were thrivily developed into the chosen residential subdivisions. The Rumby development, affecting thousands of acres of land, was one of the largest individual undertakings ever successfully carried out in Canada.

During the period when former Mayor Sam McMillin was seeking reelection on a city planning platform, it was revealed that Mr. Smith, with a small group of associates, had acquired the key properties on Queen Street for the extension of University Avenue. Mr. Smith, in the interests of the public, offered the properties to the city for the same price the syndicate had paid for them, although they had increased in value considerably.

SUGAR TAX YIELD WAS $8,546,119

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—The sum of $8,546,119 was collected from the excise tax on sugar from last April 1 to December 31, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons yesterday. Of this total $8,538,676 was collected on domestic sugar sold and the balance of $7,442 on imported sugar.

For April last, the tax was at the rate of two cents per pound, but this was reduced to one cent from May 1 under the last budget.

The total collected for the fiscal year April 1, 1933, to March 31, 1934, at a tax of two cents per pound was $14,713,521 the report sets out. The information was taken from a report by T. A. Puckner, Liberal, St. Catharines—Welland.

TO OPEN ROCK WOOL FACTORY

Canadian Johns-Manville
Co. Ltd. of Quebec to Use
Substance to Cut Fuel Bills

The Canadian Johns-Manville Company Limited will open a rock wool plant in Adolphus, Quebec, sometime next month. It was announced today. This will be among the first rock wool manufacturing operations in Canada, although for a long time it has been used as an insulation in Canadian homes.

Made from molten rock separated into fine shreds of jets of steam in a furnace, rock wool is blown into the hollow wall space of homes, cutting down fuel bills as much as 40 per cent and providing great protection against fire.

A survey made by the Dominion Fuel Board of Canada shows that an annual reduction of $50,000,000 in domestic fuel costs would be assured if all residential buildings in Canada were insulated with rock wool. It was found that the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa alone could save nearly $7,000,000 annually in fuel bills.

Scientists first discovered rock wool in Hawaii, the natural product of the volcano Kilauea. Blown out of the crater by jets of steam, rock wool was believed by the natives to be the hair of the golden Pile.

Rock wool was brought back to America and was duplicated in a furnace after long years of experimentation by Charles A. Hall. The method which will be used in the cupoles at Adolphus, Quebec, is substantially the same as in Kilauea.

Besides its importance as an insulation against heat and cold, rock wool is being used extensively as a sound-deadener. Noise has long been the chief detriment in city offices, clinics, hospitals, hotels and theatres. Rock wool absorbs sound, reducing noise to a minimum.

Body Of Trapper Is Found In Snow

Death of O. Nelson 200 Miles
Southwest of Churchill, Man., Investigated

Churchill, Man., Feb. 5.—Mysterious disappearance of O. Nelson, Churchill River trapper missing since last spring from his cabin house 200 miles southwest of here, was partly solved yesterday with the arrival of the body here. The remains were found by itinerant trappers buried under the snow five miles from his one-room shanty.

The body was found in a snow-bank by Angus McIvor and "Red" Murray, neighbor trappers. A rifle containing an empty shell in the barrel and four in the magazine, was found nearby the body.

The body was mutilated by wolves which had been digging in the piles of snow that covered the remains. No trace was found of the fur catch Nelson carried. His tent and some equipment also was missing.

The position of the rifle and the general manner in which everything was found, police said, appeared to point away from the theory the shooting was accidental.

Indians living near Nelson reported to police last summer they saw Nelson coming out on his regular route to Churchill. It is now established the trapper took a different trail. Police are investigating discrepancies in the story in the hope new light may be thrown on the mystery.

MAYOR RESIGNS

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 5.—While Dr. Ruthertford B. Dunes, recently convicted of hit-run driving, was in superior court yesterday, seeking probation, the city council accepted without comment his resignation as mayor. The probation hearing was set for next Saturday.

for a dollar bill?

THIS IS A TRUE STORY: It started with a half-serious wager, and it teaches a lesson.

Two business men were visiting a famous resort. One offered to bet the other that he couldn't sell real dollar bills for 50c apiece. The other accepted the challenge and went to work.

"How do you do?" he said to a passing stranger. "Will you give me 50c for this dollar bill?" The stranger paid no attention.

The salesman tried again and again. But nobody bought—and finally he had to admit that he'd lost his bet.

All of which suggests that people like to know who the seller is before they buy. You can trust the merchants who advertise their products in this newspaper. NARROWLY DEFEATED

THE DEFEAT BY THE UNITED STATES SENATE

The States Senate of the treaty which would have permitted the neighboring republic to have joined the World Court has become the subject of considerable editorial discussion. It will be recalled that when the vote was taken in the Senate recently the favorable vote was fifty-two and the unfavorable vote thirty-six. Forty-three Democrats and nine Republicans supported the President's plea for endorsement of the treaty, while twenty Democrats, fourteen Republicans, one Progressive, and the lone Farmer-Laborite opposed it. Others were either paired or not sworn in. The passage required a three-fifths majority, or favorable support by fifty-three, one more vote for the resolution would have carried it.

According to The New York Times, minor causes, personal and political, entered into the rejection of the treaty. This journal thinks the leadership of the forces of the Administration was altogether too languid, the implication being that it was too cocksure that ratification was certain. Says The Times: "Mr. Roosevelt was misled. He was assured that a message from him favoring our adherence to the court would win over the doubters and make sure of the ultimate result. But while the supporters of the treaty slept on their arms, its opponents kept up a secret but effective campaign against it. The last minute hullabaloo of telegrams, broadcasting, and violent attacks by a certain group of newspapers, appear to have detached a few votes that were reckoned sure for ratification. The effect was not only a disappointment to the Administration, but a great surprise. The President was generous in writing to thank Senator Robinson and other Democratic leaders for their valiant efforts, but it is now evident that more intelligence in sizing up the actual situation in the Senate and a more vigorous pressing for a final vote might have had a different issue."

When all is said and done, the vote on the World Court Treaty in the United States Senate suggests that our neighbors are skeptical of anything they regard as "foreign" or likely to entangle them in matters outside of the concern of their own nation. Nor is this attitude difficult to understand. The point which beat the President, as it beat President Wilson, was the insistence that the people of the United States ought to have nothing to do with Europe.

After all, however, science has pointedly influenced world politics since the days when President Wilson toured his country in the cause of United States membership of the League of Nations and all that membership in that body implied. The development of the radio and aircraft has progressed to an extent that the countries of the world, whether separated by oceans or not, are to a very large extent, next-door neighbors.

If, as The New York Times argues, the Senate wants to persist in what it calls the provincial spirit, "and of an extreme jealousy of everything that is 'foreign,'" it has once more provided new proof by its attitude toward the World Court Treaty. How the United States regards Europe, of course, is its own affair. But their wealth of resources, their vast population, if thrown wholeheartedly into the cause of peace through membership of the League of Nations and the World Court would be a great service to humanity at large.

THE FLEMINGTON "CIRCUS"

WITH NEWS AND SOUND PICTURE reels being taken of the actual court proceedings, flutulent broadcasters yapping their opinions of the case, its prospects and probabilities, on the radio, sensational newspapers interpreting what is taking place, and is not taking place, to suit themselves, witnesses giving interviews to enterprising reporters explaining and elaborating their evidence, it is small wonder that the Hauptmann trial is being described by the press of London as the Lindbergh circus, while Canadians, accustomed to entirely different circumstances in cases before their courts, are very much befogged in regard to this particular development.

In a general sense these phenomena may be explained by the singular conditions governing the operation of law and the dispensing of justice in the courts established under the constitution of the republic. By that instrument each state as a sovereign unit has its own criminal laws and judiciary subject to the fact that there are federal judges for the trial of infractions of federal laws. Since the laws of the state of New Jersey affecting court procedure have no application in any other state, there is nothing to prevent broadcasters and sensational newspapers in New York, for example, trying the Hauptmann case by radio or in their columns. This accounts in part for the freedom with which the trial is being discussed by all and sundry without involving any contempt of court proceedings.

It does not, however, account for the taking of news and sound picture reels in the actual court. This was done unknown to the judge, although it must have been done with the knowledge of one or more of the court officials, on behalf of the yellow newspapers and press syndicates operating outside of New Jersey. The most curious aspect of this incident and of the other sensational features we have mentioned is its reflection in many quarters of a complete lack of respect for the dignity of the courts and appreciation of the functions courts are supposed to discharge. If public opinion throughout the country is not aroused by this shameful parade to the point of demanding a complete reorganization of the judicial system, it will be impossible to make much headway in the enforcement of law and order.

Without such a demand from public opinion it will not be possible to transform the forty-eight acts of criminal laws and court procedures into a simplified and coherent system, for this would involve an amendment to the constitution. The argument against such a change has been that it is an infringement of state rights, but these prerogatives have been pretty badly impaired already by the Roosevelt policies initiated under the war emergency provision of the constitution. In any case it would be a thousand times better for the states to forego their control over the criminal law than to permit such a travesty as the Lindbergh trial.

Canada should profit by this exhibition in any far-reaching steps it may take to amend its constitution, in the sense that it should preserve at all costs its present system of justice administration with appropriate stern checks upon such abuses as those which have put the proceedings at Flemington in the same class as the weird trials which occasionally occur at Moscow, and which are prostituted by the radio and in the press to the exigencies of sensational propaganda.

CANADA'S MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY

FROM THE LOW LEVEL OF manufacturing operations in February, 1933, as indicated by the official index of 58.7, published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, conditions improved until September of that year, when the index reached 97. The usual seasonal slackness followed during the winter months, but operations expanded with the approach of spring. In May the volume of production attained the average recorded for the base year, 1926, and later in August stood at 100.7. Some recession followed, but during the last eight months of the year production was well maintained, closely approximating the average level for the year 1926.

The importance of manufacturing is shown by the weight given this industry in the index of general employment in Canada, where it accounts for practically 50 per cent of the total. The improvement in manufacturing operations has resulted in a rise of more than 25 per cent in the index of the number reported as employed in manufacturing. From a low of 74.4, recorded in January, 1933 (1926=100), this index reached 94.4 in October last year.

This improvement, incidentally, was not shared by the different branches of the industry in equal proportion. Moreover, the time when operations first showed marked improvement has also varied considerably. Employment in automobile manufacturing, for example, was at its lowest as early as October, 1932, while the electrical apparatus industry did not reach its nadir until June, 1933. On the other hand, employment in textile mills was greatest in May, 1934, and in the manufacture of non-edible plant products in December of last year.

Lumber manufacturing has experienced a striking revival during the past eighteen months, largely as a result of an unprecedented demand for Canadian lumber from Great Britain. Total exports during the past twelve months reached 1,370 million feet, as compared with 956 million feet during the previous year, an increase of 43 per cent. Timber operations in Eastern Canada have been larger than for years. British Columbia mills report an increase of 30 per cent in the cut of logs.

Shipments during recent months showed some recession, but it could hardly be expected that the movement could continue establishing new records. Large consignment shipments of soft woods from eastern Canada and heavy arrivals of timber from Sweden and Finland in Great Britain were contributing factors in bringing about this decline. But if Canada's protest against the increase in the size of the contract between the organized British importing concerns and Soviet exporters for this year is successful, Canada's sales of timber to Britain for the next twelve months ought to maintain high levels.

One of the chief points to be emphasized in the recent international discussions in Rome and London is the fact that the statesmen of Europe are beginning to recognize that in the unhappy event of another major conflict the greater part of the horrible "argument" will be settled from the air. The proponents of big fleets and great land armies are rapidly dwindling in number. Their retreat has been caused largely by the progress of aviation since the war ended in 1918.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NO HURRY
 The Saint John Telegraph-Journal

The governments of the provinces have not yet come to any agreement about changes in the British North America Act. Union and until they agree, a national plebiscite would not bring any objection from the provinces, and nothing could be more dangerous than coercion. The country is not suffering to any great extent. Time can be taken to give the whole question an impartial survey by the brightest minds of the country, selected if necessary for that purpose, so that every possible objection could be definitely stated and considered before legislative action is even proposed.

GREAT GAME OF POLITICS
 Frank Kent in The Baltimore Sun

It was pretty bad last year, but it will be worse this. There never was a session in which so much legislation passed, so little of which was understood not only by the public but by members of Congress. It was an unimpaired confusion of confusion and the executive branch was, and is, almost as great. There has never been an administration in which so many men operated policies in which they do not believe. The shining example of this is Secretary Henry Wallace, in many ways the best of the Cabinet members, who has publicly expressed doubt and dread of the very policy to which the agency he directs is now committed. There are plenty of others who are high-minded and loyal as Mr. Wallace, little fellows clothed with unquestioned responsibility about which they are partly cynical, partly frivolous, wholly selfish and petty.

A THOUGHT

As one whom his mother comforted, so will I comfort you: and you shall be comforted in Jerusalem. Isaiah, first 16: 1
 The process of time as a comforter can hardly be overestimated, but the agency by which it works is confusion.—A. N. London.

Loose Ends

The people of Calgary have vigor but not much humor—Victoria isn't too bad after all—the reformers don't live up to advance notions—and everybody is prosperous.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

VIGOROUS PEOPLE

IT MUST BE the brisk prairie air, the rare breeze blowing off the nearby Rockies that makes the people of Calgary so vigorous. I came home from there to find their vigor concentrated on me. To this newspaper they have written letters of such protest against my remarks about Calgary that one cannot fail to admire their civic patriotism. And it is in moments like this, when he is defending his own city that your Calgaryan, living here to escape his own climate, removes his veil of pretended politeness and says what he thinks about Victoria.

It is not pleasant. We are a race of idlers and dilettantes. We play golf and drink cocktails, batonning from the back of a motor car, the people of Calgary (who, by the way, so far as my observations went, drink more cocktails than we do and have beer parlors innumerable as well, which we don't). We tell here in the warm Japan Current (into which one frenzied Calgaryan suggests that I be plunged for the common good, a very good idea), while the people of Calgary labor in misery in rich. Indeed, life here, I gather, is so soft, so luxurious and so sinful that every resident of Calgary who can afford the railway fare comes out here to spend the winter and to write letters to the Victoria newspapers saying how much better things are in Calgary.

Ten, the wind blows off the Rockies and makes the hearts of Calgaryans beat faster with a nearly imperceptible but we can never know in this soft, idyllic climate. But that richly-scented wind doesn't seem to carry with it a sense of humor. Your prairie patriots don't seem to suspect that his leg is being pulled. The noble fellow, literal, matter-of-fact, cold and sharp like his prairie, rushes forth to defend his city as if its very foundations were in danger. Victrolas have a better sense of the ridiculous. You can say anything about them and they realize at once that you must be joking because they know, of course, that their city is perfect, an obvious fact. But the Calgaryan, having some slight doubts on the subject, will fight to the death to prove that he has none. If we had our climate and money and Calgary's civic patriotism, we should soon be a great city. We should not have to take this harsh abuse from Calgary.

NOT BAD

VICTORIA AT THIS season, if one may be allowed to say a few modest words about it in the face of Calgary's indignation, is not a bad place to come home to. Even a week away from it in midwinter is enough to make you appreciate it, to make you wonder why you ever left it. I mean, after the snow and ice of the prairie (it really does snow and freeze on the prairie, whatever the patriots of that climate may say in letters to our coast newspapers), you come home to find the snowdrops marching among the oak trees, their little white faces held up happily in the warm breeze. You find the yellow crocus blooms opened wide and shiny, as if they had caught a little bit of sunshine and were holding it there proudly for you to see.

You, we even found that the recent freezing spell, which put a foot of ice upon our little city pond, had quite failed to disturb the equanimity of Rupert, our ancient goldfish who accepted the weather with a true Victorian calm and dignity. He was swimming about to-day in proud defiance of all the laws of biology, so-

"THE LAST WORD"

1200 BROAD ST. C. 101

According to which he should have sufficed long ago. We Victorians may not have Calgary's patriotic violence, but like the prairie, we do have our pride. And so we could look more like a Victorian or be more Victorian in his intentions than Rupert. And then in the evening a wondrous sound came through the oak woods from the swamp at the bottom of the hill, that true voice of spring, the croaking of the frogs. Don't let the angry letters of Calgaryans confuse you. It is spring here now and it is not spring on the prairie.

DISAPPOINTMENT

HERE AND IN the United States there are pitiful signs of disillusionment and disappointment over the social insurance program introduced respectively by the Bennett and Roosevelt Governments. Everybody had been worked up to such a pitch of expectation, everybody had expected such miracles that the dull, cold facts of the actual legislation came as a jolt.

The terms of Mr. Bennett's unemployment insurance measure, for instance, will probably undo most of the support which he received when he made a general and glittering announcement of his plans. Such schemes are fine for getting votes so long as they are kept in the air and not reduced to law. Once they crystallize in mathematical figures, once the public sees that it is only going to get a few dollars a month out of the scheme, then the original enthusiasm quickly dies.

No possible scheme that Mr. Bennett or Mr. Roosevelt or anyone else can introduce can possibly fulfill the public's expectations, aroused by the advance notions. No scheme such as the public would consider adequate could possibly be paid for under our existing financial arrangements. A few simple calculations will show you, for example, that the Provincial Government here would have to triple its present income just merely to pay the individual cost of borrowing and save the municipalities, without providing a cent for work and wages of any social reform.

This is the brutal but obvious fact which the politicians of this country will have to face soon, namely, that they cannot finance the beautiful reforms that the public expects on the present financial basis. Business and individuals cannot carry the load of costs involved unless we have property about twice as great as that of 1926. They will have either to abandon the beautiful reforms or abandon the present financial basis. And I think most of them know it but one can't speak of such things in an election year.

WHO IS PROSPEROUS?

IN HIS CAMPAIGN for a New Deal in Britain, Mr. Lloyd George points to the United States as an example of sane economic planning.

It is only a few months ago that President Roosevelt was pointing to Britain as a successful nation which had already adopted the remedies that he was urging on Congress.

Down in the United States they point to Canada as the nation which has weathered the storm with the least damage and without any extraordinary measures of recovery—a theory which, by the way, has been rudely shaken by Mr. Bennett's announcement that we must have extraordinary measures of recovery to save us.

In Canada we are accustomed to point back to the United States as a nation which has taken hold of things; or else we think of Australia as a leader in economic house cleaning. Some of our population point to Russia as the real pioneer.

Everybody is pointing at everybody else with pride and envy. Everybody who lives in life who lives in life will gain the gifts for which he prays. For life is just a simple thing. To wear life any way is to die. Each instant comes to its end. And that its fragrance fills the air. Who lives in life each shining hour. That he can know its precious power. Through his grateful heart. His boundless good. Life can be perfect as a rose. From its beginning to its end. Each life a flower God has planned. To grace the garden in His hand.

TRIBUTE TO E. C. SMITH

Mayor, on Behalf of Citizens, Makes Presentation to Retiring Treasurer

Mayor Leeming and members of the City Council on behalf of the citizens generally yesterday evening paid their tribute to that of staff members of the City Hall and other public bodies when they honored Edwin C. Smith, recently retired city treasurer, at a special presentation ceremony presiding the council meeting.

Mayor Leeming made the presentation, a handsome engraved silver tea service.

He spoke of the rarity of the occasion when a city could honor its retiring treasurer after a service of fifty years.

"The same have been held in higher regard than C. E. Smith. You leave," he said, turning to Mr. Smith, "with the best of wishes. No one, the mayor continued, could have the service with a finer record of faithfulness or courage throughout as lengthy a career in public life."

RESPONSE
Responding, Mr. Smith thanked the council for the honor it had done him. He had always tried to do his duty and was grateful for the city's appreciation of his efforts.

He had been collecting taxes for fifty years, the retired official noted. A tax collector was supposed to be "hard boiled," but he left the city service with considerable feeling, he added.

The city had gone through hard times before and would come through this time, he felt. He thanked the mayor and council for their support, and expressed his appreciation of the loyalty of the taxpayers in times of stress before paying a tribute to the press.

Royal Oak

A large crowd of young people attended the first student practice dance held in the Royal Oak Community Hall under the auspices of the Royal Oak Women's Institute on Friday evening. Cliff Moore supplied the music with his piano accompaniment. Mrs. Hudson acted as M.C. The next student practice dance will be held on Friday, February 15, at 9 o'clock, following a children's Valentine fancy dance party. Prizes will be given for the best costume, best couple, best sustained character and best paper costume.

A request for support and financial assistance for a garden beautification project this year, under the auspices of the Victoria Horticultural Society, was referred to the estimates committee by the city council yesterday evening.

Does the Hard Winter Sap Your Vitality?

Do You Find Yourself Weak, Drowsy, Peppless?

A BLOOD TEST would probably show that your precious, vitalizing and energy-producing haemoglobin has been thinned down until it is from 10% to 25% of normal. But most of the effects of winter life have also lowered your blood count. This condition, common in winter and spring, can be soon made right by treatment with a remedy that is prepared to increase haemoglobin and to build up the blood count. Such a remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which was thoroughly tested at a clinic of 40 run-down, below-par, thin-blooded people held in a large Canadian city.

What Blood Tests Of 40 People Showed

These 40 men and women were given blood tests before taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and again after taking the remedy for about a month. Thirty-eight of the 40 people—a 95% record—showed increases in haemoglobin of from 10% to 25% in the short test period—positive proof of the blood-thinning and vitalizing power of this world-famous remedy. Every patient whose blood count was below normal had it materially increased—positive proof of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to aid in forming new red blood cells.

This Authoritative Test Proves the Value of This Remedy For Increasing Strength and Energy

Complete records of this scientific test are on file, and are being convincing to those persons who want scientific proof of the remedy's value. But most important to remedy the fact that all of these persons greatly increased their vigor, vitality and strength in from four to five weeks. At the end of the test they had the pep that makes life a joy. They had the strength to tackle their work with the vim that gets things done. They had the desire to stay out and go places and have a good time. They again knew what it was to enjoy health. You can just as easily benefit your case of chronic fatigue—just as surely revitalize your blood with new red cells and enrich it with energy-producing haemoglobin—by taking, for a few weeks, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (as called because coated with pink sugar). Your remedy has this clinically-tested remedy—50 cents a package.

POULTRY CLUB HAS ELECTIONS

S. L. Jones New President; Drive For Membership

New blood was injected into the Victoria Poultry Association when S. L. Jones, newly elected president, was elected president, and J. L. Loring, young manager of the Brevort branch, was elected vice-president of the club's annual meeting held in the Victoria Hotel last evening.

Wm. C. MacDonald, minister of agriculture, was unanimously chosen as the organization's honorary president, and Henry Robinson was returned as secretary-treasurer for another year.

The executive committee for 1935 will be composed of W. M. Bolton, G. O. Mercer, D. F. P. Jones, R. M. Jones, J. P. H. Jones, and G. J. Jones. D. Stewart will act as assistant secretary. The club chose A. H. Hix as auditor.

A momentous decision was taken at the start of the meeting, when the association instructed its secretary to write to the egg producers and breeders on the island requesting them to join the club and to present their view on the Marketing Act.

This move was instigated by a letter from one of the members, G. Barber, who told of an interview he had with the minister of agriculture relative to the control of egg prices. The minister had pointed out to him that though he would aid them in every possible way, the first move in this direction had to be taken by the producers themselves. Mr. Barber therefore asked the club as an organization of poultrymen to go on record as favoring coming under the Marketing Act.

DRIVE FOR MEMBERSHIP
The past president, W. M. Bolton, pointed out that the club was not large enough, and did not have enough egg producers among its members to be representative of the poultrymen on the island. The meeting therefore instructed the secretary to write to J. R. Terry, provincial poultry commissioner, for an order of egg producers and breeders, and subsequently to make a real drive for membership among these men.

The members also discussed the formation of a boys' and girls' club, and after some discussion, it was decided that association would organize this club after an educational meeting was held at which the boys and girls would be invited to attend.

Plans were formulated for a baby club, designed to be held around the third week in March.

Langford

On tables of progressive auction bridge was played on Saturday evening in the Canadian Legion Hall, under the auspices of the Prince Edward Branch, No. 91. Horace Simpson was master of ceremonies, while Mrs. A. G. Macle and Mrs. D. C. Macle acted as judges. The winners were—Mrs. P. H. Staverman and H. A. Hix, with Mrs. L. Eddy, Mrs. S. C. Macle, and A. G. Macle. The prize was a silver cup.

Seven letters to the city council from citizens who suffered from recent floods, along with requests for improvement of conditions, were received and referred to the executive of the public works by the council yesterday evening. Two others, claiming damage, were referred to the estimates committee by the city council yesterday evening.

FORTY PUPILS' DESKS VACANT

Cadboro Bay Parents Sponsor School Strike

Determined to force the Laxton School Board to accede to their demands for transportation for all pupils from the community to Cedar Hill School, or build a new school, Cadboro Bay parents this morning kept forty children away from school.

The children were housed during the day in the Children's Aid Hall on Hobbs Road, where they were kept under supervision by parents, who volunteered to keep the youngsters off the streets.

To-day was the second day of the strike which the parents called in defiance of the trustees' ruling that only one bus would be provided for carrying pupils to Cedar Hill, and all students residing west of Hobbs Road should walk.

The parents claim the board should supply two buses for adequate accommodation.

TRUSTEES TO MEET
No comment on the situation was made by school board officials this morning. They will meet to-morrow evening, and it is anticipated a delegation of Cadboro Bay trustees will interview them at that time.

At this meeting the trustees no doubt will explain fully the stand they took last week when the ruling on the transportation issue was made.

The board has explained it is not bound to transport any pupils in the municipality to school, but under the School Act a pupil may be refused for non-attendance if he lives more than three miles from the school and no transportation is provided.

In the Cadboro Bay district the only pupils who live three miles or more over passable roads from the Cedar Hill school are ten, who get on the bus at the Ten Mile Point terminus, according to the board's figures.

ATTEMPT REMEDY
Acting upon this information, the board undertook to provide transportation for these ten, and also about twenty-four pupils who usually catch the bus at the Cadboro Bay post office. This latter point is less than two and a half miles away from the school, and there is no moral obligation on the part of the trustees to accommodate children from this area with a bus.

The bus which would carry the Ten Mile Point pupils, however, would stop at the school, and it was felt transportation might be provided for them.

Of the remainder who have to walk more than a mile and a half.

FINGERPRINT EXPERT TALKS

T. Harvey Bamford Gives Interesting Address to Members of Gyro Club

An interesting and instructive talk on the modern science of fingerprinting was given to members of the Gyro Club at their dinner at Spencer's yesterday evening by T. Harvey Bamford, fingerprint expert with the City Police department. Mr. Bamford illustrated his talk with several slides from various police departments.

Fingerprinting is by no means new, Mr. Bamford said. The system was used as far back as 1,500 years. In China, centuries ago, fingerprints were impressed on wax and used as seals. The system was brought over the water at the present time, however, is comparatively new.

One system was started in Germany in 1857, and Mr. Bamford, who said that it is the best system, distinguished that, but two prints have never been identical in every respect. It has been estimated that not more than 1 in 10,000,000 would ever be identical in the prints of two people.

NEVER THE SAME
It has never yet been discovered that the fingerprints of two persons are the same, Mr. Bamford said. Patterns approximate each other, he said, and sometimes it is difficult to distinguish them, but two prints have never been identical in every respect. It has been estimated that not more than 1 in 10,000,000 would ever be identical in the prints of two people.

The fingerprint line at the most common place on the hand is the thumb. Mr. Bamford stated. Fingerprints taken at birth have been found to be the same throughout life. The lines of ridges on the fingers are not the same as the ridges on the palm. The ridges will last with the skin. The ridges on the fingers are not the same as the ridges on the palm. The ridges will last with the skin.

An injury of minor nature will not change the lines, Mr. Bamford said. When the skin heals the lines come back to their original form. The ridges will last with the skin. The ridges on the fingers are not the same as the ridges on the palm. The ridges will last with the skin.

Lawrence Mallet, who was chairman at the meeting, introduced Mr. Bamford.

He was introduced by Leonard Woodhouse, president of the club.

Library Gives Annual Report

Drop Shown in Fiction Circulation, But Reference Section Reports Gain

"Anthony Adverse" and "The 600,000 Guinea Pig" were the two most popular books at the Victoria Public Library during 1934, according to the annual report submitted to the mayor and council by the library trustees.

A decrease in circulation was reported the Victoria library—using public fiction falling off in comparison with that of other cities.

The drop was limited solely to the fiction section. Non-fiction circulation showed an increase. Throughout the year the policy of the board was to provide the best library service at the lowest cost.

Purchase of fiction and other books was decreased during 1934, by the trustees, as the library considered it more important to make the actual book collection and the catalogue coincide.

An increase in co-operation with other institutions, such as the University of Victoria, in compiling data, bibliographies and statistics was shown.

The policy of building up the reference collection, and the maintenance of no permanent value in reference work was eliminated.

CAUSE OF DROP
To the reduced purchase of fiction by the library, the trustees attributed the drop in circulation.

A feature shared by practically every other library throughout the country, circulation was also cut down during 1934, by the trustees.

During the year over 4,000 notices were sent out for overdue books. Repairs were made to 5,754 books and 2,215 were re-bound.

A total of 1,231 books passed through the order department and 9,001 were discarded and taken off the shelves.

"It is probably an understatement of fact," the report says in part, "to say that we attempt to serve every section of the community. The number of books we have a great variety of types in Victoria, come to us for loan, essay and debate material. Business and professional men often request material for material for club papers and discussions."

Security of staff space continues to be a problem, the report stated, adding that the library is unable to add new staff without a corresponding increase in the whole department. It is contemplated to improve conditions generally.

The children's department also showed a drop in circulation. Various activities in that department were mentioned in the report.

RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED
City Regrets Loss of Matthew Hutchison; Hopes For Continued Advice

The resignation of Matthew Hutchison, for forty years chief of the city electrical department, was accepted with deep regret by the city council at its meeting yesterday evening.

Alfred T. W. C. Hawkins, chairman of the electric light committee, stated he had seen Mr. Hutchison and had been satisfied with his reasons for leaving the service. The city was losing a very valuable employee, whose worth was more apparent, particularly in view of impending projects in the next two or three years, he said. However, he hoped and believed Mr. Hutchison would be willing to give his advice on matters when they required his experienced attention, even though no longer a city employee.

Mayor Leeming also added a tribute to the retiring official.

It is simple enough to tell whether a child is right or left handed, but it is not so simple to tell whether the right or left hand is the more natural for them, but this is seldom ascertained. Why?

A mother asks: "Please tell us something about left handedness. Can anything be done for the very young child? Or should anything be done?" We have come far from the period when to use the left hand was considered merely a perverse habit of the child's which should be stifled by any treatment, however cruel. We now look upon left handedness as a purely indicative of a physical makeup which is the opposite of the more ordinary right handedness.

BRAIN DETERMINES USE OF HANDS

In the right-handed child the left hemisphere of the brain controls the muscles of the right hand. In the left-handed child it is the right side of the brain which is the one actively concerned. Why the motor control should be different in one or another child is not a matter of training but of physical inheritance.

It is possible to train left-handed children to use the right hand and vice versa, but it is not a smooth, natural flow of control from brain to hand, but one which has to be stumbled about like a train on a switch. The net result of this awkward shunting of impulse to action, or in simpler words, of the desire for the hand to set and the action of the hand, is that the action itself is less nimble and accurate, and, in addition, the speech is apt to be affected.

The research into the causes of speech defects brought out the astounding numbers of such victims, who showed left-handed tendencies which had been checked. Because of this it has been suggested that to force a left-handed child to use the right hand is an easy path to stammering and other speech disorders.

Our leader, "Left-handedness," may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope, with your request, to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

It is apparent that in training leaders it is desirable to offer utensils and toys to the right hand. Then if the child persistently changes them to the left and proceeds to use that with greater ease and competency, allow him to do so.

When school age arrives tell his teacher that he is left-handed and let her be as modern as she should be in her thinking, she will in no way check the child's tendency to use the left hand for writing, drawing and the making of figures. He should be as privileged to make play use of his natural hand as is the right-handed person.

Fashions Shown Down the Ages

Gyre See Creations From the Time of Eve to the Present Day

Fashions down through the ages, from the time of Eve to the present day, were displayed to members of the Gyre Club at their dinner meeting in Spencer's yesterday evening when the retail group of the club, under the chairmanship of Lawrence Mallet, staged a burlesque fashion show.

William Hudson opened the show, posing as Eve in the first creation, an abbreviated green leaf. Later Mr. Hudson appeared as "In premiere danceman," attired in a brief pink tulle ballet costume, and he danced appropriately.

A handsome period gown in maroon velvet was strikingly worn by Dr. C. B. Men. With this costume went a large green fan. Dr. Men also displayed the more intimate articles of his lady's wardrobe, appearing in a smart and exclusive set of pale pink "undies" recently imported from abroad. In connection with the latter model Mr. Mallet explained that "very proper structure must have its foundations."

"MASKED BEAUTY"
The "masked beauty" made her appearance in a clinging gown of georgette, molded to the figure and open at the back to the waistline. With this was worn a large picture hat over silver-white hair. Members of the audience were asked to guess the lady's name. "It" was Wanda Schilling and E. V. Pineda won the prize.

The modern girl, with her cigarette and flask, her tight gown and crimson lips was modeled by Herbert Bush.

The unusual in fashions was provided by Art Minna, attired as a London cockney woman, on her way to a "pub." This costume was black and old-fashioned, and with it went a feather-hat, a bottle and a large white jug. Even the nose was true to type.

SPRING WEDDING

The final scene showed a modern spring wedding, the principals being Vaughan Thompson as the bride, Art Minna as the groom, James Cameron as the bride's father and Herb Butt as the officiating minister.

Charles Hunt's augmented orchestra provided music during the fashion show, and Lawrence Mallet made an efficient and pleasing master of ceremonies. Other entertainment was provided by Douglas Park, who sang "One Alone," from "The Desert Song," and a comic song entitled "Paper Boy Cookery." Brice Pullerton and Jimmy Haggart gave several selections on piano accordion. Daffodils made the table gay and each guest wore a boutonniere in mauve and yellow, the club's colors, the gift of Gyre Gordon Ballantyne.

MAYOR GREET THE DIONNES

Schumann Heink Sends Bouquet on Their Arrival in Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Flashing delighting grins to their welcoming party, Mr. and Mrs. Olive Dionne, parents of the quintuplets, completed their trip from Callander, Ont., at 8:10 a.m., C.S.T. to-day.

The welcome, sent by Mayor Kelly, presented Mrs. Dionne with a bouquet, the flowers were from one famous mother to another. They bore the inscription, "Welcome to the United States, mother Ernestine Schumann-Heink."

The tall buildings on Michigan Avenue fascinated Mrs. Dionne. "They're so close together," she exclaimed in French.

What did the couple from the little Callander farm want to see most in all in Chicago? "A night club entertainment," said Mr. Dionne. "We have heard so much about them. They are gay, no? We are so wanting to see one."

Mother Dionne nodded. "She too wants to visit a night club, but she also wants to go through the large stores," said an interpreter. "The top-sections and the infant's shoes has so many presents to take back home."

Mrs. Dionne said she missed the babies. She had no plans for their careers.

Weddings

BORROWMAN—RADFORD

A quiet wedding took place in Lady Smith at the home of the officiating minister Friday evening, when Rev. C. McDermid united in marriage Miss Mona Beatrice Radford, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Radford of Ladysmith, and John Andrew Borrowman, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Borrowman of Victoria.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a brown and rust-colored tulle frock with accessories to match. Her carriage bouquet was of pink carnations and ferns.

The bridegroom, Miss Lillian Joyce, was attired in a tulle of blue and black with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and ferns.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, for relatives and immediate friends. The tea table was prettily decorated and centered with the bride's cake.

Later the happy couple left for Duncan, where they will reside.

St. Martin's W.A.—The ladies of St. Martin's will hold a Valentine silver tea in St. Martin's Parish Hall from 3 to 6 on February 13. Included will be a home-cooking and candy stall, convoked by St. Martin's Girls' W.A.

CHOCOLATE TEA BREAD OFFERS UNIQUE TREAT

Chocolate tea bread can be served as cake or as the foundation for sandwiches.

By MARY E. BAGIE

All year long, I make a point of clipping suggestions for party menus so that when it is my turn to entertain my friends or card club, I will not be in a stew about what to have to eat and drink that is a little different.

This year I expect all the members of my bridge club will be begging for the recipe for my chocolate tea bread which, by the way, makes amazing ribbon sandwiches when combined with orange bread.

What you have to eat depends partly, of course, on what you have to drink. With tea a sweet sandwich, cookie or tiny cake is best. Coffee, on the other hand, usually is served with sandwiches with a deliciously piquant filling or with rich cake such as pound or fruit cake. Late in the winter, when cold weather makes rich foods welcome, I like to serve coffee in the afternoon to informal groups, but in the autumn the "cup" that cheers seems to fill my mood and purpose more agreeably.

All the sandwich breads made with fruits and nuts are delicious with tea, and may be used filled or as just plain bread and butter sandwiches. Most of these breads may be made with yeast or as quick breads

T.B. Veterans Plan Dance and Fashion Show For Funds

That little remnant of survivors of the Great War, known as the Tuberculosis Veterans Association, faced with the problem of raising funds for needy members, is planning to hold a dance and fashion show at the Empress Hotel on Tuesday evening, March 5. The Women's Auxiliary and other women's organizations are co-operating in the affair, which will be the last big function of the pre-war season. The worthiness of the cause bespeaks the fullest support of the underwriting, and the veterans hope to see a record crowd in attendance on this occasion.

St. Andrew's Guild—The monthly meeting of the Women's Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room, with the president, Mrs. John Cochrane, in the chair. The guest speaker, Rev. E. B. Hillebo, conducted the devotional period. An encouraging address was given by Mr. Hillebo, who emphasized the importance of work in connection with the church. The president offered her home for a silver tea to be held on March 15. The arrangements will be in charge of the social committee. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Griffith, a luncheon will be held at the Hudson's Bay Company on Tuesday, February 12, at 12:15 o'clock. In representing the Local Council of Women, Mrs. D. Reid gave an interesting account of the fourth anniversary and recapitulated the fund-raising accomplishments. Tea was served following the meeting, when the hostesses were Mrs. John Cochrane, Mrs. J. E. Young and Mrs. William Reid.

WON PLAUDITS IN MAID ROLE

Betty Hetherington's Work Feature of Little Theatre Production

By M. A.

The Victoria Little Theatre Association's presentation of "The Late Christopher Bean" at the Marine Temple auditorium yesterday evening was especially noteworthy for the quality of the performance of Betty Hetherington, who played Gwendolyn, the servant in the English aristocratic home of Dr. Arthur Haggart.

Betty Hetherington created in the role, lived and sustained throughout the play, a humble, loyal and somewhat pathetic, but finally assertive, little character that was made very real to the audience. Her consistency in the handling of the lower class, North Country accent of Gwendolyn was an accomplishment in itself.

The play has to do with the sudden recognition by the art world of the genius of the late Christopher Bean, who had spent a summer with the family of Dr. Haggart and left there a number of his paintings. Art dealers from London intrigue and finally bid up to large sums for these hitherto ignored canvases.

The greed of the Haggart family for money leads them to try to deceive Gwendolyn in order to get one of the masterpieces from her. However, in the end, all the fabulously valuable paintings are found to be her property as Christopher Bean turns out to have been the only man who had ever told her that he loved her, but that he had actually married her and she was thus actually his widow and heir.

Ruth Croftman gave a firmly-drawn representation of the country doctor, who besides his professional work was called upon to face the demands of an ambitious wife and two daughters determined not to be old maids. Ann Bryton, as the daughter, gave a characterful performance, revealing herself as possessing considerable native talent and spirit. G. Vaughan Barber was also outstanding in the part for the role of Ross, the Jewish art dealer from London.

Ervelyn O'neal gave an intelligent interpretation of the role of Mrs. Haggart. Elizabeth Bagley as the second daughter, Margaret, was consistent in her part. Dan MacDonald was as Talant, one of the art dealers, well studied, but somewhat overbearing. Arthur H. Barr played the art critic, Maxwell Davenport, with determination. Robert Hetherington undertook the demands of the part of Bruce Haggart, the young son determined to be an artist and to marry Susan.

The production, which was under the direction of W. Charles O'neal, was quite a satisfactory effort all through. Charles O'neal was responsible for the stage management, Florence Bagley for the costumes, J. Arthur O'neal for the lighting and Charles Haggart for the properties.

A programme of music was played during the evening by the Little Theatre orchestra under Conductor A. Haggart and consisting of E. Bryton, Mrs. E. Haggart, Ruth Croftman, P. Taylor, D. Wood, J. Ryan, S. Leachman, A. L. Haggart, M. Richards, C. Haggart, M. Croftman and William Kettle.

A very appreciative audience filled the auditorium.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

To the Editor—The issue of unemployment insurance has, since its introduction into parliamentary debate, been the substance of controversy everywhere. Your timely editorial has given some light on the subject to those who have as yet given it little consideration. Agreement is manifest that it cannot aid those in greatest need of it, nor is it intended to solve unemployment. While regularly employed workers are subjected to a direct wage-cut, there is little likelihood that they will benefit the tendency, moreover, will be to raise wages to the minimum rather than to increase them, thanks to the policy of the several governments in fixing a maximum under the lower end of a minimum wage for many industries. Relief scales have in the past been the guide for this, and the intention to have government agencies for the purpose of bringing the unemployed and employees together will be the means of forcing the unemployed to take the places of those who refuse to accept present wages or lower ones, especially during the process of raising the cost of living.

Your premise that it will cost the government enormous sums of money does not seem to be borne out by the enormous ratio of contributions, and certainly it will provide a means for the "good people" to get lucrative jobs in the new departments to be created at the expense of the workers. Casual labor can be applied to many categories, even those who may get a few months' work in the shipyards, mills, factories, etc., that there is cause for doubt that it will benefit any. And it will be a serious weapon in the hands of the government in discriminating against those who will be classed as "agitators," who will be denied relief or benefit under the act of any kind. So, in fine, it will be a wage-cutting, strike-breaking, discriminating, fascist measure designed to force the workers to lower standards of living or further struggle against the capitalist offensive.

Another form of insurance that has been popularized for over three years and endorsed by hundreds of organizations (trade unions, etc., C.O.F., etc., unemployed organizations, Socialists and Communists) in all parts of Canada and for which over 150,000 signatures have been secured, is Non-contributory Unemployment Insurance contained in the Workers' Social and Unemployment Insurance Bill. On February 18 an attempt will be made to have it introduced into Parliament in place of the bill now under consideration. It will, if enacted, provide a decent standard of living for all unemployed and part-time workers and farmers, the funds to be realized from diversion of appropriations for war expenditures and additional police, and by means of a steeply-graduated income tax on those who can best afford it. It provides the only solution for the workers and will relieve the municipalities of the burdens they are desperately attempting to bear. The decision of solvency and prosperity ahead. It will be a means of further advancing the common front of the workers instead of dividing them.

"TRAIN TOWN"

To the Editor—After reading Pauline Town by Bruce Hutchison in Friday's Times I feel it is my duty to write a few lines in regard to this item.

First of all, referring to Calgary as a frontier town on the edge of the wilderness, I would like to advise Mr. B. H. if he would just go into detail and look up the census he would find out that this little town

(as he terms it) has a population exceeding that of our fair city of Victoria. Speaking of Calgary on the edge of the wilderness, if Mr. B. would do a little research, he would also find a bit of wilderness. I would like to ask Mr. B. H. what part of Calgary he visited that he feels it would be better to pass through at night and also what he was when he met this class of uncultured people who do not even know how to wear their clothes.

These people come on horse living and have got only what they worked hard for, while your class with their background and who inherit their graces and culture usually say on a day made to day as they can inherit the riches of his labor.

Yes, Mr. B. H., people are always just the same even if they are worth more than they show and do not stick their noses up in the air like some who also have to work for a living.

Speaking of the prairie as being an empty wilderness, Mr. Hutchison should get a glimpse of the acres of beautiful golden wheat in harvest time and he would find out the only empty space covered by his derision.

In his reference to the poor folk and their mode of living, I would like to say that they are living in as much comfort and happiness as the ones sympathizing with them, and no doubt after reading the item you would be glad to make that they haven't heard and miles as narrow as those of Mr. B. Hutchison.

What did the Victoria children do when the snow was here? Didn't they do just what they are living in as much comfort and happiness as the ones sympathizing with them, and no doubt after reading the item you would be glad to make that they haven't heard and miles as narrow as those of Mr. B. Hutchison.

While Mr. B. H. speaks of wheat being their currency, their life and their economic good, they are putting their nose to the grindstone and working like men to get out of their difficulties, while others are laying down on the job and thinking day and night of a plan without themselves working to get out of the same difficulties.

ESQUIMALT RELIEF

ESQUIMALT RELIEF

To the Editor—In reference to a letter published in your paper Thursday, written by Reeve Lockley, in which he states the contents of a letter (written by us and published in your issue of January 20) are entirely untrue and not worthy of recognition, we the B.C. joint organization of unemployed, are prepared to prove every statement made by us, in the said letter, on any public platform. Reeve Lockley came to Esquimalt, or, better still, we invite Reeve Lockley and his council to attend the meeting of the local unemployed organization to be held in the parish hall, Esquimalt Road, Tuesday, February 5 (to-night) at 8 o'clock, or the general meeting held at 554 Yates Street (corner Gordon Street) on Sunday, February 10, at 2:30 p.m. and thrash the matter out.

He states that he referred to the relief workers in the kindest words he could use. We wonder if the kindest words he refers to, are, in this statement, which he made at a public meeting on Thursday, January 24, that there are some relief workers, whom I can only liken to rotten apples, as they contaminate the others. He also stated that as the money paid for relief has to be found by the taxpayers, he thought it better to starve twelve poor men than to share twenty-four. We suppose he also considers these "blind words." Another statement made by him at the same meeting (that which he makes at all meetings where relief matters are brought up and are usually accompanied by a few crocodile tears) "my heart bleeds for the unemployed," we wonder what of his organs would bleed were he called upon to support himself and family on $12.45 per month for a couple of years?

Speaking of bleeding, we would like form Reeve Lockley that a large number of the unemployed of Esquimalt bled considerably during the years 1914 to 1918 while he was also and comely at home. He also states that at no time has the council or myself said the amount we pay is sufficient to keep a family, thereby proving that he has failed to obey the law, which distinctly states (according to the Municipal Act) that the head of a municipality must supply sufficient relief to persons in distress.

If Reeve Lockley considers we are not doing him justice in this letter he can accept either of the invitations contained therein, and he will be given every opportunity to discuss the matter.

THE B.C. JOINT ORGANIZATION OF UNEMPLOYED, February 4.

Metropolitan Ladies' Aid—The Metropolitan Ladies' Aid held their regular monthly meeting on Friday with a good attendance of members and two visitors. Mrs. J. T. Williams, president, was in the chair. Reports of various committees showed much good work done during the past month. Mrs. R. Ritchie gave an interesting report of the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women, Mrs. W. H. Harte and Mrs. E. O. Weston were appointed to act as visiting committee for the next six months. Plans were discussed for the annual anniversary supper to be given in the near future. A luncheon will be held at the Hudson's Bay on Tuesday, February 20. Those desiring tickets are asked to phone Mrs. Ritchie, G1049. The was served by Madeline Westcott, McElroy and Pettigrew.

BANK CONTROL IS DEBATED

Commons Rejects U.F.A. Member's Resolution For Nationalization

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—From fish and banks, the House of Commons today turned to government business, including such matters as farm loans, patent laws and unemployment insurance.

On private members' day yesterday the members spent their time debating the merits of national ownership of banks and ways and means of helping the hard-pressed fishermen of the Atlantic Coast.

William Irvine, U.F.A., Wetaskiwin, presented a resolution urging nationalization of the Bank of Canada and the chartered banks "as speedily as possible," and saw it defeated by an overwhelming majority, the vote being 59 to 12.

The three-hour banking debate produced many sharp tiffs between Liberal and C.C.F. members. The latter objected to Liberal attributing to them opposition to government ownership of the central bank. They had voted for the bill on third reading last session, they claimed, only because they considered the privately-owned bank better than none at all.

Finance Minister R. H. Rhodes, after pointing out the opposition to the Irvine motion, claiming nationalization of the banks would add hundreds of millions to Canada's debt and inevitably lead to public interest being sacrificed for political considerations.

RULE SPEAKS
To front bench Liberals, Hon. W. D. Euer and Hon. Charles Stewart, said they were prepared to support public ownership of the new central bank, but were opposed to nationalization of the chartered institutions. Former Minister of National Revenue Euer, disputed Mr. Rhodes's contention that no government could be trusted to administer banking facilities in the best interests of the country.

The debate was filled with general attacks on the chartered banks by C.C.F. members. J. S. Woodsworth, the party leader, said private control already was dominating the central bank, which had been turned into a "chamber of commerce bank" through the shareholders electing the directors solely proposed by that organization.

CELEBRATION ENDS FATALLY

Army Officer Dies After San Francisco Night Club Scuffle Following Party

San Francisco, Feb. 4.—An army major was fatally injured in a night club fight that climaxed a gay party in celebration of their regiment's birthday here early today.

The man who lost his life was Major Charles A. Rose, battalion commander of the Thirtieth Infantry, stationed at the Presidio. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Central Emergency Hospital after either falling or being thrown down a long flight of steps at the entrance to the night club.

Major William F. Lee, one of his companions, suffered a bruised left eye and Lieut. Winfred Skelton a cut lip in the brief scuffle that preceded the tragedy.

Clem Gavitt, well-known night life figure, and two aides, Joe Vane and Sam Ehrlich, were questioned by police.

TWO BATTLE POLICE; ESCAPE

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 4.—Raymond Hamilton, youthful fugitive from Texas's electric chair, and his brother, Floyd, engaged city detectives in a gun fight in the residential section here yesterday and escaped in a volley of machine gun fire.

Surprised by a squad of officers as they drove up in an apartment house, the pair answered a command to throw up their hands and surrender with a blast from a shotgun. A policeman was wounded in the hand. They leaped from the machine and fled down an alley. Officers said Raymond, apparently wounded, ran into the Dallas Gas Company's garage, commandeered a service truck and sped away.

Two women were arrested by police yesterday afternoon at the apartment house. One of the women drew a pistol, but was quickly subdued. Officers accosted themselves in the apartment and surprised the women.

DR. A. G. PRICE IS CHAIRMAN

Overseas League Branch Holds Annual Meeting; Dinner is Planned

Dr. A. G. Price was yesterday afternoon elected chairman of the Overseas League, to succeed the late Charles Bentley. The election took place at the annual business meeting of the branch in Spencer's hall.

A standing vote of appreciation of the work of the late chairman was passed by the meeting, and the sympathy of the league will be forwarded to Mr. Bentley's family in a letter to be forwarded by Mrs. A. E. Hodgins, honorary corresponding secretary.

Dr. Price, in his inaugural address, paid tribute to one "who was the personification of a friendly, courageous gentleman."

FEWER ENQUIRIES
A Victoria membership of seventy-seven in the league was noted at the annual report submitted to the meeting. The secretary commented, however, that there had been a considerable falling off in the number of inquiries received during the last year, as compared with former years, and that only two outside members, an Indian civil servant and his wife, had been entertained by local members.

The branch will consider the holding of a luncheon or dinner to celebrate the ending of their year. The suggestion came from Mrs. M. S. Wheatley, programme convener, and a committee was appointed to go into the matter. The members are: Dr. Price, Mrs. Wheatley, Mrs. Jutson Fisher and T. H. Laundry, the new vice-chairman. A report will be submitted shortly.

In addition to the election of Mr. Laundry as vice-chairman, Mrs. Wheatley was re-elected in her post of program convener. All officers were included in a vote of thanks moved by T. Colby.

Donations of $5 each to the recreation fund and the Sunshine Inn were voted out of the unexpectedly large balance in the treasury.

Western Australia is seeking the right to secede from the Australian Commonwealth.

"BABBITT" AT THE DOMINION

Famous Sinclair Lewis Story With Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee To-day

"Babbitt," Sinclair Lewis's best selling novel and produced in screen form by First National, comes to the Dominion Theatre to-day, with Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee in the leading roles.

The book was read and enjoyed by millions and the film version of small town life should have a tremendous appeal to all sorts of audiences.

It depicts, in a colorful and picturesque way, the follies of a fairly successful business man who is so convinced of his own shrewdness, that he falls an easy prey of a scheming banker and politician and later is played by a designing widow who punctures his egoism and nearly causes his ruin.

Guy Kibbee has the title role with Aline MacMahon in the part of the wife who understands both his conceits and the warm heart underneath them. Claire Dodd has the role of the widow to whom Babbitt boasts of his financial acumen and who then blackmails him to the tune of $10,000.

The romantic roles are played by Glen Bolan, as Babbitt's son, and Nan Gray, the boy's sweetheart. Much of the comedy is provided by Babbitt's fellow townsman, Harry Tyler, Alan Hale and Bertie Chandler, the merry cut-ups of the lodge of which Babbitt is the ring master.

Tolstoy's Novel Here To-morrow

In keeping with the mood and tone of the production, Samuel Goldwyn engaged Sergei Bodorkin, comic artist of the Metropolitan Opera, and foremost among Russian masters of decor, to act as technical art consultant on "We Live Again," starring Anne Grey and Freddie March, coming to the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

In association with Richard Day, art director of the Goldwyn studio, Bodorkin created the elaborately colorful backgrounds described in Leo Tolstoy's immortal novel, "Resurrection," from which Preston Sturges, Leonard Freeland and Maxwell Anderson adapted this Rouben Mamoulian production, released through United Artists.

RETROGRESSING IN EDUCATION
Mayor McGeer Expresses Views in Address Before Teachers in Vancouver
Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 5.—British Columbia has returned education until "we are now to the level of the negro states in the United States," Mayor G. O. McGeer declared in an address to more than 1,000 Vancouver teachers gathered in connection with the Vancouver Teachers' Association.
"We are in the unfortunate position in this city of having reduced expenditure on education more than any other community in Canada," he said. "We have yet to recognize the existing iniquitous money and credit monopoly."
"There is something wrong with people who can produce abundance with ease and yet have not the intelligence to use that abundance to their own advantage," he declared. "Education is the only means by which the ideal of socialism can be established as the privilege of all mankind."
PEACE AND PLENTY
"Our whole educational system up to the present has been to equip a few for leadership at the expense of the many. We have yet to recognize that education should be the power

SAYS TREATY NOT BINDING

Japanese Spokesman Claims Portsmouth Pact Now Partially Obsolete

Associated Press
Tokyo, Feb. 5.—The Japanese Government yesterday said the Portsmouth protocol of September 18, 1922, and not the Portsmouth Treaty of 1905, governs its decision as to the number of its troops in Manchukuo, a Foreign Office spokesman said to-day.

He was commenting on a recent charge of Moscow that Japan had violated the treaty.

Historical changes had automatically made obsolete portions of the Portsmouth pact, the spokesman said.

"The provision limiting Japan and Russia to fifteen soldiers each a kilometre along their railways in Manchukuo," he continued, "became obsolete when Manchukuo became an independent state and concluded with Japan the protocol whereby Japan undertook responsibility for the defence of Manchukuo."

"Similarly, when Manchukuo completed the purchase of the Soviet's share in the Chinese Eastern Railway, the Portsmouth Treaty provision concerning Russia's ownership of railways in Manchukuo will be obsolete."

Actually Japan has not regarded herself bound by the Portsmouth agreement for the last three years. The size of Japanese forces stationed in Manchukuo has surpassed the agreed limits since early in 1932.

Associated Press
Berlin, Feb. 5.—A rumor that former German Foreign Minister Wilhelm Cuno had been invited to visit Hitler's special invitation except Berlin to-night.

It has been known for some time among the intimates of both men that efforts were being made by friends to bring the two together.

If the rumor is correct, this would be the first time the former Kaiser's closest son has met down to an intimate conversation with the present German leader.

It was indicated the two had discussed "present political business."

Donkhorob Create Problem

Grand Forks Mayor Discusses Situation With Attorney-General

Mayor T. A. Love of Grand Forks, here with the Union of B.C. political and industrial Attorney-General Gordon Sloan regarding the Donkhorob situation developing in his territory following release of prisoners from the island.

Mayor Love stated that trouble had already occurred with some of the men who had returned from the island penitentiary.

The Donkhorob situation would not require the issue of Freedom to their lands and there was the danger of a serious situation, he said.

Mayor Love discussed with the Attorney-General means of meeting the case.

VEGETABLES HARD TO GET

Wholesalers Report Not a Great Deal of Local Varieties Around

Except for the root crop, Vancouver Island vegetables evidently suffered badly from the climatic phenomenon experienced a short time ago, for wholesalers report that there is not a great deal to be obtained in the farming districts around the city.

Local celery and cauliflower are almost cleaned up, and the Victoria market will have to depend on imports to fulfill the demands in this line.

A carload of mixed vegetables from California is expected shortly, which should help to replenish local supplies.

The car of apples which arrived here on Saturday is reported to have been already sold out. Another car of mixed apples from the Okanagan is expected to-morrow.

Wholesalers are looking forward to a car of Kamloops potatoes which should arrive in a day or two.

A shipment of tomatoes from the Bahamas was received yesterday.

The butter market was another case of the market. Continued strength on the Montreal market has caused the steady upswing.

Rhubarb, forced in hothouses just outside Vancouver, is arriving daily on the local market. It is retailing now at one pound for five or two pounds for 25c.

LAST RITES TO-DAY

In the presence of many sorrowing friends, including delegations from the Altar Society and the Catholic Women's League, which she had been a devoted member, requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Andrew's Cathedral this morning over the remains of the late Mrs. E. J. Lundy, who passed away last Friday. Rev. Father Alberty officiated, and Mrs. R. Lundy, sister of the late Mrs. Lundy, acted as organist.

Interment was in Rose Bay Cemetery. The pallbearers, all members of the Knights of Columbus, were: M. J. Haley, P. E. Gignot, C. O'Leary, J. Neary, F. Doherty and E. Callan.

SAYS TREATY NOT BINDING

Japanese Spokesman Claims Portsmouth Pact Now Partially Obsolete

Associated Press
Tokyo, Feb. 5.—The Japanese Government yesterday said the Portsmouth protocol of September 18, 1922, and not the Portsmouth Treaty of 1905, governs its decision as to the number of its troops in Manchukuo, a Foreign Office spokesman said to-day.

He was commenting on a recent charge of Moscow that Japan had violated the treaty.

Historical changes had automatically made obsolete portions of the Portsmouth pact, the spokesman said.

"The provision limiting Japan and Russia to fifteen soldiers each a kilometre along their railways in Manchukuo," he continued, "became obsolete when Manchukuo became an independent state and concluded with Japan the protocol whereby Japan undertook responsibility for the defence of Manchukuo."

"Similarly, when Manchukuo completed the purchase of the Soviet's share in the Chinese Eastern Railway, the Portsmouth Treaty provision concerning Russia's ownership of railways in Manchukuo will be obsolete."

Actually Japan has not regarded herself bound by the Portsmouth agreement for the last three years. The size of Japanese forces stationed in Manchukuo has surpassed the agreed limits since early in 1932.

Associated Press
Berlin, Feb. 5.—A rumor that former German Foreign Minister Wilhelm Cuno had been invited to visit Hitler's special invitation except Berlin to-night.

It has been known for some time among the intimates of both men that efforts were being made by friends to bring the two together.

If the rumor is correct, this would be the first time the former Kaiser's closest son has met down to an intimate conversation with the present German leader.

It was indicated the two had discussed "present political business."

HOPE TO PASS BUDGET BY MAY

Little chance of passing the city budget by May

Little chance of passing the city budget by May was stated by Mayor David Lumsden in his council yesterday evening. His statement was based on the fact that the estimates for funds were not yet received from the various departments.

"We will not pass the estimates until the projected budget has been received," the mayor stated.

JUDGE BACK FROM HAWAII

Harry D. Reid Comments on Honolulu Poultry Show; Chance For Island Breeders

After spending nine days on the Hawaiian Islands and judging the Honolulu Poultry Show, Harry D. Reid, Dominion Poultry Inspector, and ranking judge in the American Poultry Association, has returned to Victoria.

Commenting on the show Mr. Reid said that the birds were very high standard, and prices ranged from $1.00 to $5.00.

He noted that one of them had paid as much as a thousand dollars for three birds.

In this respect it was little wonder that the exhibition classes on the average were of higher standard than those seen in the province. However, as far as production qualities were concerned, the birds were poor.

Practically no utility birds shown. However, due to the fact that Hawaii only produced about a quarter of the eggs it consumed, and prices ranged up to fifty cents a dozen, the people of the islands were going in for utility breeds.

In this respect Mr. Reid believes that there is a chance of the Hawaiian Islands becoming a poultry breeding center.

As far as the show was concerned there were over 500 birds entered. The show was judged by the largest claim with over 100 entries, but a pair of white Leghorns proved the best, according to Mr. Reid.

This exhibition was only one of the many put on by the people of the islands. He was shown the sights of Honolulu, including Waikiki beach, by two members of the Hawaiian Island Territorial Poultry Association.

JURY'S VERDICT IS SUSTAINED

Quebec, Feb. 5.—The Quebec Court of Appeal to-day dismissed the appeal of the Attorney-General's Department against the acquittal of Nelson Phillips, sixteen-year-old Ojibwa youth, on a charge of murdering Maud Aesch, fifteen, at Penikese, Gaspe, in August, 1932.

Convicted at his first trial and sentenced to death, Phillips was a second trial through the Appeal Court on grounds an alleged confession should not have been admitted as evidence against him.

With the decision, the Crown appealed this decision, claiming other statements made by Phillips should have been admitted to the jury.

At least 30,000 persons have died throughout Ojibwa in the epidemic since November, A. C. Stewart, editor of The Ojibwa Times yesterday said.

Urges Course In Government

V. L. Denton Makes Education Suggestion Before Kiwanians at Luncheon

"In the University of British Columbia we should have a course that would definitely lead into government," V. L. Denton, principal of the Victoria Normal School said in the course of an address to members of the Kiwanis Club at luncheon to-day at the Empress Hotel. "They should be trained, not for the glory of the position, but for the service of the state," he added.

Mr. Denton said it was surprising that courses were offered in practically everything except in this. Young men, whose credentials were good, should be trained to become mayors and members of parliament.

"Such a course seems to me a possible, helpful solution to things we are troubled with to-day," Mr. Denton said.

The schools of Canada have kept pace with schools all over the world, Mr. Denton said and compare well with the schools in any civilized country. A democracy, he declared, depends largely on an educated electorate.

The present educational system was barely 100 years old and was not yet perfected, Mr. Denton said. He said he had been in 100 years.

FARTHER THAN U.S.
"We have gone farther than the United States. Very few states have state systems of education," the speaker said.

Mr. Denton said he could see no physical reason why the three prairie provinces could not have one school system, administered from some central point.

Speaking of the teachers Mr. Denton said: "Our teachers are remarkably free in that indefinable thing that gives a sense of good judgment. You do not want teachers who have no backbone because they would be unable to give leadership. The young people in our normal schools represent a cross-section of our population. They pay $100 for tuition and a twenty-five per cent charge of getting a school at the end of the term. They are judged on their sympathy, their earnestness and their ability to lead."

British Columbia and Canada during the last few years of crisis is due in a large part to the fine teaching body of state individuals."

SUCCESS IN ENGLAND
In closing Mr. Denton hoped the suggestion of establishing a training course for government would be thought over. He referred to the success England had had with such a course over a period of many years.

That a course, he said, would not necessarily shut out business men from public life.

Bowen MacKenzie, president of the club, introduced Mr. Denton, who was thanked for his address by Trustee Ken Ferguson.

Kiwanians were asked to bring refreshments to their luncheon on February 19 in response to a letter read from the Department of National Defence asking for cards, magazines, newspapers, music and other recreational facilities.

F. W. Francis received congratulations on his birthday this week. He was also the winner of the music competition conducted by William Tickle and Len Acres.

Hugh S. Green Is Buried at Fulford

Fulford Harbor, Salt Spring Island, Feb. 5.—The funeral service for the late Hugh S. Green, of Salt Spring Island, who passed away at his home, The Divide, on Thursday last, took place at St. Mary's Church, Fulford, on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Rev. C. H. Popham officiating. A large number were present, including members of the Canadian Legion. Mr. Green served through the Great War with the Forty-eighth Pioneer Battalion.

Harold and Reggie Price, J. C. Kingsbury, T. M. Jackson, R. Maxwell and J. W. Rogers. Mrs. V. C. Best presided at the casket, the hymns sung being "Abide With Me" and "On the Resurrection Morning." Interment was made in St. Mary's burial ground. Mr. Green, who had resided on the island for the last thirty years, leaves besides his relatives in England, a nephew, L. Cropper, resident on Salt Spring.

CLEAN-UP WEEK IS SUPPORTED

The City Council yesterday evening gave support to the drive of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to "clean-up and paint-up" homes and property in Victoria during the week beginning April 1.

During the discussion of the matter, it was estimated several hundred houses owned by the city would be torn down.

IS LAID TO REST
The funeral of John William Griffiths, who passed away in this city on Friday, took place yesterday afternoon. Many friends attended the service and numerous floral tributes were received. Rev. P. W. Weaver conducted the service, during which the hymns "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me" were sung. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park, following services at the residence of Mr. Griffiths, 1150 Commercial, P. Price, J. Stevens, W. Dunford and W. Carstairs.

Epidemic Deaths Close Ceylon Schools

London, Feb. 5.—So many children under fourteen died in Ceylon from malaria epidemic, according to a dispatch to The London Daily Herald, that schools in the worst affected areas will have no scholars for the next five years.

More than 11,000 children of school age were included among the 14,516 victims who died in a northwestern province alone in three months. The Herald's correspondent said.

At least 30,000 persons have died throughout Ceylon in the epidemic since November, A. C. Stewart, editor of The Ojibwa Times yesterday said.

Justice Cotelle intervened to ask the jury for an approximation of his earnings, and then ordered a cross as the defendant's books could be examined.

In testifying his income had decreased, Budy said:

"I had nothing to do with my personality."

WOULD BUILD STORM DRAIN

Project Mooted to Relieve Richmond Avenue Area in Case of Flood

Construction of a storm drain to relieve areas which suffered greatly from the floods in the Richmond Road district, should similar conditions arise in future, was sought by the executive of the public works committee in a recommendation submitted to the City Council yesterday evening.

That project, estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $14,000, along with a drainage scheme for the Dallas Road, were tabled for the consideration of the estimates committee.

The recommendation read as follows: "That the city engineer be instructed to put in drains along the top bank at the bridge south of Dallas Road between Dallas Avenue and South Turner Street at an estimated cost of $600, and—

"That the city engineer be authorized to construct a new storm drain from the existing city storm drain mainhole at the junction of Port and Davis Streets to the junction of Coronation and Richmond Avenues, at an estimated cost of $1,400. And that the board of directors of the Jubilee Hospital be requested to give the city an easement through the hospital grounds to carry this drain."

A report of the year's work was given by the secretary, Mrs. H. C. Silburn, who said the club had tried so far as possible to carry out their motto, "I do to help," and had during the past year, helped sick or distressed families or individuals. Gifts of flowers or fruit are sent to the sick of the district at their homes or in hospital and the sick committee can be reached by phoning Garden 3558 or Empire 3502.

The resignation of Lady Emily Walker was recalled. Most of the appointment of Mrs. J. Quinn, her successor. Activities were reviewed in detail.

A banner garden party, pot show and other money raising undertakings were recalled. The annual Christmas bazaar was held on December 3 and was also very successful, enabling the club to distribute Christmas cheer to several families.

A maternity circle, under a committee formed by Mrs. M. McVie, Mrs. J. Pettie and Mrs. J. Quinn together made or donated by members which are on hand for any worthy cause which may be reported.

Officers for 1935 are: President, Mrs. J. Quinn; Vice-president, Mrs. M. McVie; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Silburn; executive committee: Mrs. R. Dunn, Mrs. E. Rood, Mrs. T. Jennings, Mrs. J. Norman, Mrs. J. Reed, Mrs. A. Bates and Mrs. J. Pettie.

Blue Ribbons Open Final Drive For B.C. And National Titles

THE SPORTS MIRROR

TONY CAMONERI used to be death to up-and-coming fighters. Many youngsters, pushed along too fast, died up against the barrel-chested Italian and their careers wound up with an abrupt bang. When a comparatively unknown extends Tony to the limit to capture the division in the closing rounds of a battle, it is an unmistakable sign that the final page of a most interesting chapter of the prize ring is at an end.

Camoneri harbors designs for a third meeting with champion Harry Sawyer. Sawyer, through two half-line decisions, over Tony. The latter thinks he is as good as he was on those two evenings and is willing to guarantee $25,000 to $30,000 to prove it. This speaks well for his courage and confidence. But sometimes these virtues are overestimated and this is the case with Sawyer. Camoneri has not improved to any extent while Sawyer has forced ahead in leaps and bounds during the last eighteen months. The former has the feather and lightweights also fails to take into consideration the his plugging style, which is well known to Sawyer's counter-attack.

Camoneri has had a remarkable career in the ring. He is but twenty-nine years old according to the records. You can safely subtract two or three years and be more correct. This will be his tenth year in the squared circle. During that time he has met and defeated the best fighters from 114 pounds down to 125 pounds, where he first started, until the day when he tackled the best 135-pounder of his time.

Camoneri came up from New Orleans a protégé of his idol, Pete Herman, the former bantamweight champion of the world. A thorough face his own otherwise he would not have been permitted to fight. As a bantamweight he fought such good boys as Young Montreal, Rusty Graham and Andy Boutin, etc. in his second year in the prize ring. Two years later it was this same Boutin who deprived him of the featherweight title.

In 1926 Tony crushed to end of the division when he knocked out the brilliant Al Singer in one round and annexed the world lightweight title. The following year Camoneri defeated another winner who he stopped the supposedly shockproof Jack Kid Berg in three rounds to capture the 140-pound title. These symbols of leadership in the prize ring are gone. All that is left is a desire to meet his two-time conqueror once more.

The much-buffeted St. Louis Eagles are still undaunted by the kicking around they have received so far in the National Hockey League. There is some talk that a few of their games will be transferred to Ottawa, possibly five or six. This would give them a chance to play in more congenial surroundings, and would make little difference in the game as they have not been a good drawing card in St. Louis since their first season. The club has struck abnormally warm weather all season in Missouri. They are strangers in a strange land, in a hostile area peopled by a hostile and sceptical newspaper writers; the many to whom winning is the great essential.

It is no wonder the Eagles have been unable to win a winning streak. They still have a chance to make the playoffs even if it is largely mathematical. The Eagles have played bustling hockey. They have played like Howe and Brydson high in the Canadian section scoring list. Howe is near the top.

The last-named youngster, who is still in his early twenties, has proven an outstanding star. He has been marked for stardom early in his career when he was a pole-checking sensation with Montreal. Gagner, a team that almost won the Stanley Cup in 1928. Howe was sixteen years of age at the time. This series against the Regina Pats, incidentally, introduced Hugh Banks, now with the Chicago Black Hawks, as well as Howie. He is a willing mixer if any one crosses his path. Toronto Maple Leafs had him once but he was a rookie. Conny Smythe passed up.

Otto Stein, U.S. match game bowling champion from St. Louis, rolled four perfect games during the 1935 season. They're expecting a record number of competitors to take part in the American Bowling Congress tournament in Syracuse this year. More than 7,000 may take the show in a big way. Teddy Yonke, while recuperating from that broken kneecap received in his bout with Babe Rizzo, is practicing on his violin. Piddling with the violin is the way he makes the dough, as it were. Conny Stangel is counting on Bob Logan, rookie southpaw recruit from Indianapolis, to help his Brooklyn heating corps a lot. The "Shore News" Minnesota's powerboat football in 1934, may play football for the Pittsburgh Pirates next season. Bill Ken, Alabama, country, is a tackle in the team by another big name on the Pirates' squad. Freddy Miller, featherweight champ, is said to be one of the most popular U.S. fighters ever to battle in Europe. Doc Leggett, catcher for the Boston Red Sox, really is a Doc. He ranks among leaders in his office at Fenway, Ohio. The Boston Baseball League's schedule for 1935 calls for 141 games, seven more than has been the custom. A business man is planning it.

Victoria's Cage Stars Engage In Heavy Schedule

Battle Ellensburg Normal Here Saturday Night; Will Scout Vancouver Clubs

House of David Games Are Near

Blue Ribbons, Victoria's leading basketball outfit and former holders of the Canadian championship, have opened their final drive that has as its object another national title. The Ribbons are now giving all their attention to the coming British Columbia title play-offs, as they figure victory in that competition will be the stepping stone to the Canadian title.

With an object of getting a line on the Vancouver team, referring to the mainland and other inside dope, Art Chapman and Red Martin, two veteran members of the Ribbons, will make a rush trip to Vancouver tomorrow afternoon and attend a senior game there to-morrow evening.

The Ribbons have not played any exhibition games in Vancouver this season and will not do so before they go over for the provincial finals. As a result the local players are at a loss to estimate the strength of the Vancouver club, although they can make a fairly sound judgment through having defeated the New Westminster Adanacs on their home floor.

Just which team will win out on the mainland is a problem. At the present time the Province, present holders of the Canadian title, and Varsity are running neck and neck and any one of the three may lift the mainland championship and earn the right to oppose the Ribbons in the provincial series.

Taking the last two years' play into consideration, it is a pretty safe bet that the club winning the British Columbia championship will be Canadian champion. Last season the Province won the title in a walk, and admitted after it was all over that their stiffest games were against the Ribbons in the provincial series.

However, before the B.C. final, the Ribbons have plenty of exhibition games. All of them are against stiff competition and should put the local boys into fighting shape for their title with the mainland representatives.

On Saturday night at the High School Gym the tea and coffee representatives will go up against the crack Ellensburg Normal School five. The following Saturday will see them meet either the Gilmore Oil or Italian Athletic Club. These are both Seattle teams and will be return engagements. The Gilmore Oil are one of the two teams to defeat the Ribbons this season, noting out the locals by a single point 18 to 17. The Ribbons defeated the I.A.C. here several weeks ago.

Petersen Suffers Surprise Setback

Latest British Heavyweight Threat Drops Technical Knockout to W. Neusel in Eleventh Round; British Still Has No Ranking Big Fighter

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 5.—Black and blue from decades of beatings, British heavyweight flash is still, it seems, incapable of withstanding the shots of foreign punchers. Jack Petersen, who a month ago was shouting for a title bout with Max Baer, was silenced yesterday evening by Walter Neusel, Germany.

In the eleventh round of a fifteen-round bout at Wembley, Petersen's second's threw a towel into the ring, abruptly ending one of the most sensational upward marches by a British fighter ready for international campaigning among the heavies. Neusel recently was knocked out by Max Schmeling, former champion, and Petersen was left with the proposition of either duplicating the performance or bowing his way out.

Neusel's result is that England has no fighter ready for international campaigning among the heavies. Neusel recently was knocked out by Max Schmeling, former champion, and Petersen was left with the proposition of either duplicating the performance or bowing his way out.

There didn't seem to be anything between Petersen and a shot at one of the better heavyweights from the United States or Europe. To keep in shape the Briton took on old George Cook, Australia, three weeks ago and won a close decision. "We want Baer and we won't go to the United States to fight anyone else," Petersen shouted after the Cook fight, when there was still talk of matching the ambitious Jack with either Steve Rasmussen or Art Leskey. "Pa" took the Neusel fight to prove his son's ability.

In the early rounds Petersen outboxed the German, without ever having Neusel in trouble, but a right to the jaw dropped the Englishman in the third round. It was tough sledding after that. Neusel scored another knockdown in the tenth. Jack's right eye was bleeding and he was helpless when his seconds admitted defeat.

McLARNIN IS AFTER BOUTS

Vancouver, Feb. 5.—Any rising young welterweight, or even one of those adroit lightweights, who entertains the fond hope of a move or less easy rise to the welter crown on the retirement of Jimmy McLarnin, might just as well forget about that hope, for the present at least.

Jimmy has no intention of leaving the ring until he has to. In fact, the smiling Vancouver Celt is prepared to break what has become a generally accepted fact, that the champion would fight seldom and consider retiring at any time. From now on James is going to make the fight business just that in a bigger and better way.

"Three fights a year average," says Jimmy. "I need that many to keep at my best. I can't expect to be in the best of shape with only one fight a year. Besides, it's my business. Unfortunately I've been handicapped the last few years by lack of top-notch men in my class. Even to-day there aren't too many. But if I can't find enough I can always step into the middleweight division. I should not have much trouble fighting the bigger fellows, I can make 150 pounds and be in good shape."

Manager of New York Rangers Wears Same Suit and Tie Since His Hockey Team Started Winning Streak in the N.H.L.; Thirteenth Game To-night

New York, Feb. 5.—"What new men in blue, what new?" That is the question Gotham supporters of New York Rangers would like to ask Lester Patrick, et al., as the New York Rangers prepared to face the Maroons in Montreal to-night, with an undefeated record of twelve straight games, nine victories and three ties.

Before departing for the Canadian metropolis yesterday evening the manager and players were questioned regarding their fear—if any—of the dreaded "13."

"Thirteen has no particular fear for me," said Lester, as his protegee cheered "No, no, a thousand times no." It was noticed, however, Patrick still wore the same suit and tie he has galloped about town in since the Rangers commenced their sensational uphill climb at the start of the new year.

"If we continue unbeaten a little while longer," said the grey-thatched maestro, "I will send this suit to the Smithsonian Institute for scientific analysis, to see if there is anything to substantiate this idea of the value of lucky charms and what not."

With such veterans as Capt. Bill Cook, Frankie Boucher and Murray Murdoch on the team it is not surprising the Rangers have shown no signs of cockiness about their success.

"It's a long season yet," quoth Bill, as his teammates nodded agreement. "Anything may happen, but we would like to take this one."

Toronto Leafs Are After Right Winger

HUGH KELLY TO SALMONBELLIES

SIR MALCOLM TO USE GUIDE

Black Oil Line Ten Miles Long Will Pilot Him on Speed Attempt

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 5.—Sir Malcolm Campbell, British automobile speed driver, will be guided by a black line one foot wide and about ten miles long when he dashes down the beach here about mid-month in an effort to place his world's record at 300 miles an hour or more.

Tests showed the practicability of the guide line. It will be made with black fuel oil and will cost about $40 a day to paint as each incoming tide will obliterate it. It will be laid down the centre of the beach. A line of flags will mark the water's edge and keep Campbell from getting too near the surf.

If seagulls wing in over the course a line of men with shotguns will fire shells to frighten them away. Campbell said a bird smashed his windshield once at Ferndale Sands, Ireland, while he was racing and nearly caused him to crash.

FOUR NHL MATCHES ON

Toronto Leafs Only Idle Hockey Team To-night; Rangers Battle Maroons

Though every team in the National Hockey League but Toronto Leafs plays to-night, most of the interest will be centred in Montreal's forum, where New York Rangers and Maroons, the teams that seem to have gathered all the fire in the league to themselves, clash.

For Rangers it will be another test in the series they have gone through in the last seven days. Victors over Detroit Red Wings and Toronto in recent engagements, they take on Tommy Gorman's team, confident they can run their unbeaten string to thirteen games.

Maroons are in the midst of a drive they hope will take them to the Canadian division leadership, and in recent games have shown their best form of the season. They can come within seven points of Toronto by winning from Lester Patrick's boys.

For Rangers the reward of victory would be greater if Detroit beat Bruins when they meet them in Boston to-night. The New Yorkers would then move into second place in the American division, just behind Chicago Black Hawks, who entertain Canadians in Chicago. St. Louis Eagles play the injury-riddled Americans at New York in the fourth game to-night.

No Signs Yet of His Being Replaced By Great Dizzy Dean, Club Moguls State; Are Anxious to Keep Bambino in American League

New York, Feb. 5.—Dizzy Dean has replaced Babe Ruth in the baseball headlines this winter, up to and including the Dizzy one's sudden inspiration to become a "hold-out," but the great St. Louis Cardinal pitcher has yet to come with gunshot of the Babe's position as a drawing card or box-office attraction, in the opinion of major league baseball men.

"All this talk about Dean replacing Ruth as the big magnet for the cash customers is just so much hokum," remarked a club owner who is in a particularly good position to discuss the subject.

"We in the National League only wish it was the truth. Dean is fast becoming a popular figure, no doubt, but in the first place, you cannot compare a pitcher who works only once or twice a week with a player who may be out there every day, from the standpoint of drawing power."

"In the second place, the fans have not been breaking down the gates to see Dean pitch, even when it was advertised well in advance. The Cardinals tested this by trying a three-day build-up for Dizzy during the last pennant season, but on one occasion only 1,100 cash customers appeared."

This does not mean the elder Dean, as a soloist or in combination with brother Paul, will not become an increasingly attractive proposition if he continues his sensational speed-ball pitching, but old man Ruth, if he decides to have another part time fling this year with the Yankees, will likely have an easier time getting a $25,000 contract than Dizzy.

BOUCHER IN HOCKEY LEAD

Centre Ice Star of New York Rangers Tops Section Scorers in N.H.L.

Montreal, Feb.—The winning streak of the New York Rangers who have not lost a game since January 1, was reflected in the National Hockey League official scoring lists issued yesterday evening with the rise of Frank Boucher, Rangers' brilliant centre, to top position in the United States section. Boucher jumped ahead of the Detroit ace Moe, Aurie, Lewis and Weiland, who hold second, third and fourth place, respectively, in the section. Boucher also threatened Harvey Jackson's hold on second place in the whole league, the lead of the early season having but one point margin over the New Yorker to-night.

Charlie Conacher, of the Leafs, still dominates the league with 19 goals, 18 assists and 37 points. Jackson is next with 19-13-31, and Boucher third with 16-20-30.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a "problem child," the result of its grandmother's spoiling. My mother lived with us and from the hour of my son's birth she was frantic over him and took possession of him and nagged my every effort to bring him up properly. She upheld him in his childish misbehavior, opposed my every way of doing things and made up to him for what discipline I managed to give him. To-day he is twelve and shows the marks of the rocking, cooing, humoring which she gave him. Underneath our boy is of a very tender nature, loving and kind, gentle to his pets, but resentful to authority and any suggestion as to behavior.

I know my boy was getting ruined, but what could I do? My mother had no other home than mine. I could not put her out and she was so infatuated with the child that she would not leave him for even a week. But must all the rest of his life be spoiled because of a fond and foolish old woman?

A WORRIED MOTHER.

Answer—There is no problem that is more difficult to solve than how to protect our children from the cruel kindness of a doting grandmother. The mother, weighted down by her sense of responsibility to her children, educated in the scientific care of children and a student of child psychology, realizes that their grandmother may be wrecking her children physically, mentally and morally, yet she can only save them at the expense of depriving a pitiful old woman of almost the last shred of happiness she has left in the world, and it takes a more ruthless nature than most women possess to do it.

Old people are very lonely. They have few pleasures. Most of those they have loved have died or left them. Their homes are broken up. Their hands idle. The children that they live with are too busy to pay them much attention. And to them a grandchild comes almost as a resurrection. Life is stirred in their sluggish veins again at the feet of another baby in their arms. There is something to do and think about and feel again, and so they come to worship the grandchild with a passion of devotion greater than any they ever felt for their own children.

And perhaps it is because they do not feel any sense of responsibility to the child, or perhaps it is because they are so near the end of things that nothing seems important but the indulgence of the moment, that they spoil the child without reason. They save it from all discipline, they encourage it in selfishness, they make it a rebel against authority, and use entirely different tactics in bringing it up from those they employed with their parents.

The parents are powerless to interfere because you cannot reason with an old woman, or make her change her methods. She is always armed in the self-complacency of age which makes her believe that her ways are the right ways, and that all modern ideas are silly nonsense. "I don't believe in all of this foolishness about baby formulas and feeding them just on the dot. I gave my children whatever I had to eat myself and fed them whenever they cried," she will say. And the young mother who is trying to feed her child scientifically bites her tongue to keep from reminding Grandma that half of her children died in infancy.

"I never put my babies in a dark room and let them cry themselves to sleep," Grandma will say. "I always rocked them to sleep. I never made them do what they didn't want to do. I always gave them what they wanted and let them do as they pleased." And the young mother thinks sadly of how much happier she would be if Grandma had only taught Tom to control his temper and to be a little less selfish, and that Bob might not be a boy hater if Grandma had only held him to his teats when he was a child.

But what is the woman to do who sees her children being ruined by their grandmother? I do not know. Of course, the children's rights come first, and in justice to them they should be separated from the evil influence that will be their undoing. They should not have to pay all their lives for the folly of an old woman.

But there is Grandma, so old, so pitiful, whose whole heart is set upon Jimmy or Johnny, and who can have the heart to take the child from her that is her Benjamin?

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have spent many years preparing myself for a profession in which I have good prospects of success and for which I feel myself particularly fitted. I feel that it is the only work in which I could be happy and contented. But the girl to whom I am engaged, insists upon my giving up my profession and going to work in my father's business in order that we may be married sooner. She says that I am very selfish not to make this sacrifice for her. My father thinks that there is more of a future in his line than in his, and it is with this thought of added success and consequently more leisure for my future wife that I have held off from doing as she wishes. What would you do?

A PERPLEXED FIANCER.

Answer—If I were a man, I wouldn't let any woman in the world rush me into marriage against my better judgment and before I was ready for it. Her would I give up my chosen occupation to which I felt that I was called by nature for my woman.

Because, first, it is only selfishness that makes a girl want to sacrifice a man to her wishes, and in the second place, because if he does sacrifice himself to her she is never good enough sport to abide by the results of her act.

A girl knows perfectly well that when she makes a boy marry her before he has got on his feet and is financially able to support a family she dumps him to perpetual poverty. She knows that no man on a small salary can ever enough to get a start in any business of his own if he has a wife and children hanging around his neck. She knows that the will be a burden that will sink him.

Yet because she is tired of getting up and punching the time clock in some store or office, or because all the other girls are getting married, or because she is afraid she might lose the lad if she did not have a legal hold on him, she simply forces him into marrying.

And is she satisfied then? Not at all. She reproaches him with their poverty, with her lack of pretty clothes, with her having to do the housework, with all the innumerable hardships that an ill-advised marriage brings about, and thus still further weakens his morale and takes the last bit of courage out of him.

And if a man lets a woman make him give up the work he has fitted himself for and in which alone he can find contentment or spirit, he sells his own dream. He will be a failure because he will try to do something that he is not fitted for. He will be bored by unaccustomed work and he will never come to reproach his wife for having ruined his career.

No woman who is not willing to wait until a man is ready to marry and who is not anxious for him to succeed in his career will make a good wife.

DOROTHY DIX.
